But still the youth rushed on.
WHITHER?
TO SEE HOLT'S "NEW BABYLON."

NEW BABYLON. NEW BABYLON.

WAFTED by the BALMY and JOYOUS WINDS of SUCCESS, we glide into our THIRD WEEK of TRIUMPH and PROSPERITY.

OUR FREE and FLOWING SAILS are filled by the praises from

"PULPIT," "SENATE,"
PRESS and PEOPLE.

Our tide is flushed and quickened by the WARM ENCOMIUMS profusely springing up everywhere.
NOTHING to cause a BLUSH on the most unsullied cheek.
NOTHING to sting or pain the PUREST SOUL.
Nothing that would POLLUTE the sweet and new-born BABE.
Patronized and approved by CLERGY, SENATE, and all classes of society.

ENTHUSIASM BUT IN ITS INFANCY.

OVER 32,100 persons have witnessed HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

TO-NIGHT, TUESDAY.
And every evening until further notice,
HOLT'S
NEW BABYLON.

Our lofty ambition gains its end by CROWDED HOUSES NIGHTLY. The LEARNED and SAGE LAWYER throws aside his BRIEF and visits HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

The SKILFUL SURGEON after amputating the emaciated limb visits HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

The MERCHANTS of OUR GREAT CITY forget the first of the month after witnessing HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

The WISE and LEARNED LEGISLATOR regards as a Blessing HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

The SQUATTER from the RIVERINA cajoles The BANKER of GEORGE-STREET into a fresh advance when witnessing HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

Over 32,100 PERSONS have LAUGHED as they have never laughed before at HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

The ERUDITE PROFESSOR of our UNIVERSITY, approvingly ponders over HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

PRUDERY itself saw nothing to find fault with in HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

FASHIONABLE BEAUTIES free themselves from the enervating influences of GILDED drawing-rooms to see HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

OVER 32,100 persons have seen and say that the best entertainment in the city is HOLT'S NEW BABYLON.

It is, therefore, the talk on the BLOCK and WOOLLOOMOOLOO.
It forms a subject of debate with SENATORS and PHILOSOPHERS.
It is discussed in the STUDIO and the WORKROOM.

SYDNEY MORNING HERALD:—"Mr. Dampier looked a manly, genial fellow; and then to see, in the fifth act, a tremulous hand feel its way into the garret, a hand followed by a something with wild eyes, shaven head, and the face of a corpse—something that was, and was not, Coupeau—afforded a dramatic contrast literally thrilling."

THE NEW LICENSING BILL.

A meeting of persons interested in that portion of the new Licensing Bill which affects the licensed victuallers, was held last evening, at the Guild Hall. About 200 persons attended, and Mr. Coonan, M.L.A., and prominent members of the New South Wales Licensed Victuallers' Association, under whose auspices the meeting was held, occupied seats on the platform. Mr. J. B. Olliffe, as president of the Association, was elected chairman.

The CHAIRMAN, after reading the advertisement convening the meeting, said he regretted that an occasion had occurred which necessitated the calling of this meeting. But since it had been called he felt proud that the respone had been by such a numerous and respectable an attendance. The bill they had met to protest against was, he thought, distasteful and totally obnoxious to the licensed victuallers. It was a very long, and certainly a very pretentious one. It covered 15 pages of paper, was composed of 174 clauses, and divided into four parts. It purported to deal with publicans, wine and spirit merchants, auctioneers, theatres, pawnbrokers, public places of amusement, hawkers, billiard and bagatelle licenses, colonial wine licenses, and public platform lecturers. This was a large composition and a very varied one, and he thought that it would give great difficulty to the legislative wisdom of New South Wales to deal with it successfully. They purposed merely to deal with the part of the bill which immediately interested them, and to show how much inconvenience it would cause to the licensed victuallers and public if it became law. He would proceed to show them as far as possible what, in their opinion, was the most objectionable clauses in the bill. The first thing that came under their notice was the constitution and composition of the new licensing Board. Under present circumstances, they had the whole of the magistracy as the licensing Board. But under this bill the Government proposed that they should only have nine or not less than seven persons to deal with. When it became apparent that the Government intended to make a change in the law—and the licensed victuallers all admitted there was great room for improvement—the Licensed Victuallers' Association submitted some suggestions to the Government, and one of these related to the composition of the Board. They suggested that the Board should consist of two city police magistrates, the Mayor, and three nominees of the Government. But the Government had decided that there should be nine members, or not less than seven. He did not think they would be in any better position with such a Board than they were at present. The magistrates themselves had acknowledged their incapacity to deal with the licensing law. But notwithstanding all that, the licensed victuallers thought that the devil they knew was better than the devil they did not know. The Board might work well or bad. It might consist of individuals entirely opposed to them, who would use every possible effort to suppress the liquor traffic. The licensed victuallers would occupy a false position under such a Board, and therefore they had a just right and objection to it. (Cheers.) Well, in the place of this, the Association were prepared to make a suggestion, and he believed that what they proposed would be acceptable to the country at large. And what they suggested did not come from themselves. They went to England and Ireland, and there they had a recorder—one man. (Applause.) This man was in the position of a Judge, and required to have the education and qualification of a Judge before he could occupy the position. He had a large salary, and was free from the influence of any one who would be likely to approach him. Of course they knew that, under other arrangements, the magistrate was waited on by friends of the applicant, and pressed to do this and the other; but if they had a responsible person, of good education and independent position, they would have a tribunal from which they would receive honesty and justice—a tribunal that could not be approached by any individual. The licensed victuallers suggested that such a person should be appointed, instead of the Board they proposed. He noticed that this had been shadowed forth in a letter, signed "Clericus," in one of the papers. The next matter of interest to them was in the 10th clause, which read:—"Until and unless rescinded or altered by regulations to be made hereunder, the following procedure shall, subject to any special provisions contained in the several parts of this Act, be observed so far as the same can be applied in the conduct of all business before Licensing Courts, and particularly in respect to applications for licenses under Part II. (IV.) On an application for a license for new premises, the applicant shall produce to, and deposit with, the clerk, for the information of the Court, plans of such premises; and the Court may require the applicant to give any explanation thereof by skilled witnesses, and, if such plans shall show that any portion of such premises, or of the building of which the same forms part, is fitted up as a retail store, it shall not be lawful for the Court to grant such application." In dealing with this measure they proposed to consider the interests of the licensed victuallers in the country as well as of those of the city. If this clause were passed it would be most tyrannical to the country licensed victuallers. It would cause them a great deal of trouble and annoyance, and in that respect the bill would be inadequate. There was no house in the country, away from the small towns and villages, that had not a store in connection with it, and he contended that there was nothing more suitable for the requirements of the country than a house of this kind. In fact, a public-house could not well exist without a store. In the country these houses were often opened by men who did not open them for the purpose of making money by them, but for the convenience of the public. He had a relation who opened a house on a station for the purpose of supplying people who came to him. They ought to protest against this clause. The next clause he would deal with was the 22nd. It was as follows:—"It shall be the duty of such inspectors to use all due vigilance and to take all lawful means to enforce compliance with the provisions of this Act, so far as the same relate to the sale of liquor, and to persons and premises licensed for the sale thereof, or holding theatrical or public hall licenses. And every such inspector may at all times during business hours enter on any premises licensed under this Act; and in the case of premises licensed under Part II. hereof, he may examine every room and part of such premises, and take an account of all liquor therein, and may demand, select, and obtain any samples of liquor which may be in or upon such premises, such samples to be sealed by the inspector in the presence of the licensee or person in charge of such premises; and if such licensee or person shall so desire with the seal of such licensee or person, and on paying or tendering payment for such samples may remove the same for the purpose of analysis or otherwise. And if any such license or person refuses or fails to admit any inspector demanding to enter any premises in pursuance of this section, or refuses to permit any inspector to select or obtain such samples, or obstructs, or causes, or permits such inspector to be obstructed or delayed in the discharge of his duty, such licensee or person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £50. Any expenses incurred in analysing any liquor in pursuance of this section, if such licensee or person as aforesaid be convicted of selling, or delivering, or permitting to be sold or delivered, or of offering for sale, or having in his possession adulterated liquor or liquor containing any deleterious drug or noxious ingredient in contravention of this or any other Act, shall be deemed to be a portion of the costs of the proceedings against him; and shall be paid by him accordingly, otherwise such expenses shall be paid out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund." The Licensed Victuallers Association had always asked the Government to appoint an inspector. But what they objected to in this clause was this. They all knew that, in the trade, all were not rich men. There were many who were not in a position to go to a bonded store and buy their goods out of it. Many were obliged to go to the wine and spirit merchants and buy their goods. Well, they all knew that many of the wine and spirit merchants, or he would say some of them, had been in the habit of putting certain mixtures in the good liquors and then selling out these poisonous deleterious compounds. (Applause.) They thought it hard that a poor man should not be protected by the law from this kind of thing. The law did not protect him. It did not go on to say that he should be at liberty to prove where he go his liquor from. If a provision were inserted that on a man proving that he got this from a wine and spirit merchant, then he thought that would have answered the purpose. As the clause stood a man might be severely punished though he were innocent. Beyond that he had no fault to find with the provision, for it was very desirable that the public should be protected against the injury from which they suffered through the sale of deleterious compounds. He also thought the 24th clause a very objectionable one, viz.:—"Any justice, superintendent, inspector, or sub-inspector of police, and any inspector appointed under this Act, may demand entrance at any time during the day or night into any licensed premises, or any constable authorised in writing by any such superintendent, inspector, or sub-inspector, or by any licensing magistrate or justice, may demand entrance into any licensed premises or the appurtenances thereto at any time during the day or night, and if admittance be refused or unreasonably delayed may break into the premises. And the licensee of the premises so refusing or delaying admittance shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds." He did not think it right that any constable should have that power. He did not object to any reasonable person of authority, such as a sub-inspector, going upon the premises; but it was monstrous that any ordinary policeman should have the power of knocking once at a publican's door, and then breaking it in. (Applause.) Such things, and even worse than that, were during the time that Mr. Plunkett was in office as Attorney-General. It was not right that the constable should have the power, and therefore the licensed victuallers had a right to ask the Government not to give any constable such grave powers. The next clause to which he wished to draw attention was the 30th, viz., "bottle licenses may be in the form in the fifth schedule hereto, and shall authorise the licensee, being also a licensed spirit merchant, to sell and dispose of liquor, but only on the premises specified in such license, and only in bottles containing each a reputed pint or quart, as the case may be, and in quantities not exceeding two gallons to any one person on the same day, but no such liquor shall be drunk on such premises." As far as selling bottles of liquor was concerned, many of those present might say that that was done already, and there was no doubt that numbers of the wine and spirit merchants were in the habit of selling bottles of grog. The publicans unfortunately felt the effects of the carrying on of the practice. Notwithstanding the existence of that practice the licensed victuallers considered that it was wrong for the Government to give those merchants power to open their wholesale shops as retail shops. (Hear, hear.) If this clause was carried, and those wholesale gentlemen received the power that it would confer upon them, there was no saying where it would end. The next step would be to give them permission to have the liquor drunk on the premises. At the same time it should be remembered that while those wholesale gentlemen were to receive those increased privileges they would be free from the oppressive provisions under which the licensed victuallers had to suffer. They had no lamps to keep alight; they had no danger of an inspector, of anybody having the slightest authority, forcing themselves into their premises; and they were never subject to the annoyance of having a drunken man or woman coming upon their premises and creating a disturbance, for which the unfortunate publican would probably have to suffer. But, apart from that, it was wrong that a wine and spirit merchant should have the power of selling a bottle or half a bottle of spirits. He now came to what was, perhaps, the most obnoxious clause in the bill, the 34th, dealing with the classification of public-houses, viz.:—"No application for a new publican's license, or for the renewal of an existing publican's license shall be granted after the passing of this Act in respect of premises within any licensing district, unless the applicant shall, at the time of lodging his notice or applying for a renewal, deposit a certificate under the hand of the district inspector, stating that the premises in respect of which such license or renewal is applied for have been inspected by him, and that, in his opinion, the said premises should be rated in the first, second, third, or roadside inn class, as the case may be. And the certificate shall (if granted) state upon the face of it as nearly as possible, according to the form of the eighth schedule hereto, the class of premises for which the license or renewal is authorized. Provided always that it shall be lawful for the Court, if satisfied that any such premises have not been fairly or correctly classified in such district inspector's certificate, to alter or amend such classification upon such evidence as they may think sufficient. In giving any such certificate such district inspector shall be governed by the following regulations, viz.:—(I.) If the premises in respect of which the license or renewal is applied for are situated within the boundaries of the city of Sydney, and shall, in addition to the standard accommodation hereinbefore prescribed, contain not fewer than ten sitting and bed rooms suitable for the accommodation of the public; or if such premises, being so situated, be assessed for the city rate at not less than five hundred pounds per annum, or are so situated as to command a business equal to or above £30 per week over and above rents, taxes, and other tenant's outgoings, such premises shall be placed in Class I. (II.) If the premises in respect of which the license or renewal is applied for are not situate within the said boundaries, and shall contain not fewer than six but less than ten such rooms as aforesaid, in addition to the said standard accommodation, such premises shall be placed in Class II. (III.) If such premises are situated within the boundaries of the said city, or any borough or municipal district, and shall contain not fewer than three but less than six such rooms, in addition to the standard accommodation, such premises shall be placed in Class III., unless in the opinion of such inspector their position is such as to command a business equal to or above £30 per week over and above rent, taxes, and other tenants' outgoings, in which case such premises may be placed in either the first or second class, according to the judgment of such inspector. (IV.) Small public-houses and taverns in cities and towns shall be placed in Class III., unless the character or position of the house in any case is such as in the inspector's opinion requires a higher classification. (V.) Premises of which the business is mainly that of a restaurant, café, or chop-house, shall, unless their assessment or accommodation be equal to or in excess of that prescribed for Class I. be placed either in the second or third class, according to the character and position of the premises." It would be observed that the most extensive powers were conferred upon this inspector, and yet what qualification had he for discharging the responsible duties imposed upon him by this clause? It was simply stated that the qualification of an inspector should be that of a sergeant, and anybody in the police that had been a sergeant would be qualified to occupy the position of an inspector. What a position that sergeant would have! They knew what salary he would have, and they knew therefore what sort of man they could expect as an inspector over them. He (Mr. Olliffe) did not wish to cast any undue reflection upon the sergeants or anybody else, but he thought that in making a selection from such a class of men for appointment to the important offices of inspectors, they would not be likely to get the kind of man they wanted. (Hear, hear.) In a position like that if a man did not became worth a great deal of money in a very short time it would be his own fault. (Laughter and applause.) The principal thing he would have to contend against would be to refrain from turning his back too often with his hands behind him. (Laughter.) It was wrong on the part of any Government to place any such man with such power over the licensed victuallers. He was sure that such a clause as this would not command the support of even the total abstainers. Apart from that phase of the question he thought that the system of classification would press very heavily upon some licensed victuallers. If he went into a small public-house, and after the lapse of a little time resolved to improve the place by spending as much money as he could possibly afford upon it, why should he be compelled to be placed in the first-class, and have to pay an increased rate, simply because he had tried to make his place of business more respectable? He regarded such a provision as a cruelty upon a section of the licensed victuallers, and a great wrong. This Government talked about free-trade, but he regarded such provisions as this as very poor specimens of free trade. (Cheers.) Another provision demanding the serious consideration of all lovers of fair play, was the 38th, viz.:—"Objections to the granting or renewal of any license under this part may be made, either personally or by petition, to a Licensing Court or licensing magistrate (as the case may be) by—(I.) Any three or more ratepayers in the ward of the city of Sydney, or of the borough or municipal district in which the premises are situated in respect of which a license is sought, or to which it relates. (II.) Any other applicant for a similar license. (III.) Any person holding a similar license in such ward, borough, or district. (IV.) Any district inspector appointed under this Act, or member of the police force in charge of the district or place in which the premises are situate, or any person authorized by any such inspector. (V.) Any three or more residents of the licensing district within which the premises are situated, or the owner of such premises. And any one or more of the following objections may be taken to the granting of any such license:—(I.) That the applicant is a person of drunken or dissolute habits, or otherwise of bad fame and character. (II.) That his license has within twenty-four months preceding the date of application been cancelled. (III.) That the applicant has been convicted of selling liquor without a license within a like period as aforesaid from date of application. (IV.) That the premises in respect of which the license is applied for have not the minimum standard of accommodation required by this Act (if any). (V.) That the reasonable requirements of the neighbourhood do not justify the granting of such license. (VI.) That the premises are in the immediate vicinity of a place of public worship, hospital, or Public school. (VII.) That the quiet and good order of the neighbourhood in which such premises are situate will be disturbed if a license be granted. And the objections which may be taken to the renewal of any such license may be any of the following, viz.:—That the applicant is a person of drunken or dissolute habits, or otherwise of bad fame and character, or that the premises in respect of which a renewal of license is applied for are not maintained at the standard aforesaid. And upon any application, whether for the grant or the renewal of a license any other objection may be taken (whether or not of the same kind as any of the preceding objections), which appears to the Licensing Court to be sufficient. Any such applicant shall, upon objections being raised at the hearing of which previous notice has not been given to him at least three days before such hearing, be entitled to an adjournment thereof." Anybody that had any idea of fair play would admit that this and the other clauses he had indicated were most objectionable. He thought it wrong to give any three men the power of objecting to a license in this way. (Hear, hear.) Any person holding a license would have to make application for a renewal of that license, and on the occasion that such application was made, the applicant would come under the operation of this clause. Now there were very many men who held that the liquor traffic should not exist at all. They had a perfect right to hold that opinion, which might be right or might be wrong; but why should three persons holding those views have the power of harassing a publican, and putting him to the most serious inconveniences by exercising the power they undoubtedly would have under this clause; He regarded the clause as a decidedly unfair one, and contended that this power should not be given to such a small number of men. (Applause.) It was true that the bill said further on that in the event of the complaints being frivolous the complainants were to pay half the costs. But how easy it would be to put up three men of straw to make frivolous complaints. The applicants would be put to great expense and receive no protection from the Court. If the Government would compel the objectors to deposit say £50, which might be confiscated if the complaints were frivolous, they would meet the case and give the victuallers some protection. The victuallers would be protected as well as those who thought different, from them. As it was, the one would be protected and the other would not. This portion of the clause ought to be expunged. The next thing he came to would be perhaps the most objectionable he could submit to them. None of them liked to have their pockets touched, especially if they received nothing for it. The matter he referred to was contained in the 43rd clause, which dealt with the fees for licenses in the following words:—"The following fees shall be paid annually in respect of publicans' and packet licenses, viz.:—(I.) For publicans' licenses—(a) If for premises certified for Class I., seventy-five pounds; (b) If for premises certified for Class II., fifty pounds; (c) If for premises certified for Class III., thirty pounds; (d) If for premises certified as a roadside inn, distant at least twenty miles from any other place, and not containing more than rooms, in addition to the minimum standard, ten pounds." The Government had been very lenient to the roadside houses, and he thought very justly lenient. But he did not think they had shown the same leniency to the higher class houses. He thought that the more respectable a man kept his house the less he should be imposed upon. In imposing these sums of £75 and £50 on victuallers, the Government were guilty of tyranny, cruelty, and wrongdoing. It meant that the victuallers would be permitted to sell spirits for £30 a year each, but if they attempted to keep boarding houses in addition they must each pay £45 a year extra. Now, the fees for licenses here were more than they were anywhere, except India. Let them look at Great Britain. Fees there varied from £3 10s. to £10, but here they were fixed at £30, with £10 in addition for billiard licenses, and the Government were not satisfied with those amounts, but wanted to put on a further impost of £40. But what did the Government do for them in return? They might naturally think that they would do something to recompense them for putting on this impost. But the Government had not done anything. It was true that first-class hotels would not have to pay for billiard licenses, and that second-class hotels would enjoy the same exemption, but the third-class hotels would have to pay as usual for their licenses. But although the first-class hotels were exempted from paying for a billiard license, they were charged £45 a year for the privileges. If the Government were sincere, and if they desired to raise revenue, why did they not make calls upon the victuallers' neighbours. There was a very large number of boarding-houses in the city of a very respectable class, and if the Government called upon the victuallers to pay £45 a year each, why should they not ask boarding-house keepers to pay a license. Why should they go free? What had they done that they should be free, and what had the victuallers done that they should be imposed upon by this Algerine measure? This was one of the most cruel features in the whole bill. The Government imposed 2s. a gallon on the spirits at the beginning of the year, which was a hardship on the victuallers, and subsequently made the attempt to impose an excise duty, which fortunately was defeated. But they were determined to inflict some further punishment on the victuallers by the enforcement of this idea. He did not know who recommended the Government to adopt the idea. It must have been an ignorant man, unworthy of submitting any advice to a Minister of the Crown. He was surprised that the Premier had permitted it to be committed to paper. [A voice: "Oh! he'll submit to anything." Another voice: "Does it touch the clubs?"] No. They got clear, did as they liked, said as they liked, and paid nothing for the privileges they enjoyed. This sliding scale was a very bad one; and this was one of the most objectionable clauses in the bill. They should not be compelled to pay more than they were paying at present. They paid enough, and the revenue got enough out of them. Some short time since he ascertained from statistics that the Government got as much as half a million a year out of them. The Government ought to be satisfied with this—ought to pay a visit to somebody else to get revenue from. Well, here was another clause, No. 49:—"If any person shall, at any one time, hold a beneficial interest, whether in the name of himself or any one else, in more than one license for the sale of liquor, or in more than one house licensed for such sale, he shall be liable, for every day during which he shall hold such interest, to a penalty of five pounds. But this section shall not apply to holders of booth, or stand, or bottle licenses." Here was protection for the bottle licenses again. The Government did not forget the wine and spirits, but gave them the opportunity of entering upon the retail trade in competition with the victuallers. And supposing that an auctioneer's firm, or any other firm, formed the idea of transforming themselves into a company. According to this clause he would be liable to be fined £5 a day for being a member of it. He considered that in a matter of this nature he should enjoy the same privileges as other tradesmen. Victuallers' enterprise should not be confined to one corner of trade. The next clause he had to submit was the 50th, which read thus:—"Every holder of a publican's license shall keep a lamp (of at least two burners if lit with oil, and if lit with gas of at least one burner) fixed over the door of his licensed premises, or within twenty feet thereof, which lamp shall be kept burning during the whole of every night from sunset to sunrise. And every such holder neglecting to comply with the requirements of this section shall, for any such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds." He did not think they, more than grocers and other tradesmen, should be compelled to have lamps outside their premises. They were unnecessary. The Municipal Council lighted the streets, and the victuallers paid their moiety of the expense. He would go this far: He would say that it was desirable that houses in the country should have lamps in front of them at night, so that travellers might see where to go to for a night's lodging. [A voice: "Correct."] But in the town the lamps should be done away with. The next clause (the 54th) enacted that music or dancing should not be permitted in licensed houses. It did not affect the victuallers in the cities so much as those in the country. Circuses and other travelling shows and company's resorted to the country. Frequently there were no schools of arts for the members to perform in, and he thought, seeing that the performances were very acceptable to country people, that the performers should be permitted, with the consent of the magistrate, to perform in a licensed house. Clause 66 provided that no licensee shall keep his premises open, or permit liquors to be drunk on his premises, except between four in the morning and twelve at night on the six business days of the week, and except between the hours of 6 and 9 in the morning, and of 1 and 3 in the afternoon and 8 and 10 at night on Good Friday and Christmas Day, and except between the hours of 1 and 3 in the afternoon on Sundays, and on the three last-mentioned days, only for the sale of liquor not to be drunk or consumed on the premises. It also provided that nothing should prohibit the sale of liquor at any time to any bona-fide lodger, inmate or traveller, but such liquor shall not be drunk at the bar of the said premises by any others than bona-fide travellers. What was the use of their being permitted to keep their houses open if the people were not permitted to consume liquor in them? The purchaser should be permitted to decide whether he would consume or take away the liquor. Let the Government tell them to shut up their premises, and they would know what to do. Now, he came to the 67th clause, which defined a bona-fide traveller to be one who had travelled ten miles to a public-house. The burden of proving that he or she had travelled that distance was to be placed upon the victuallers, Just imagine a man travelling on a Sunday, in hot weather, for five or six miles, and not being permitted to get a bottle of sodawater for himself or a glass of wine for his wife. Let them look round and just consider matters. After a hard week's wrok a man felt that a little enjoyment was necessary, and he took his wife and children out of town for a little fresh air. Well, let them go to Botany, or Coogee, or Bondi, or Manly Beach, or anywhere around the city of Sydney, and they could not get a glass of spirits or of wine, because they had not come far enough for it. This was a great oversight on the part of the Government, and they could not have given the matter any consideration whatever. And it was just as bad in town. A man came in and asked for refreshment, saying that he had travelled ten miles that day. He got it, and a policeman came in and summoned the publican. It lay with the latter to prove that the man he served was a traveller. The thing was absurd and beyond all reason. These were the whole of the clauses which the licensed victuallers would have to contend against, and he considered that the objections he had brought against them—and the meeting would agree with him—were based on good grounds. The clauses were objectionable, purely theoretical, open to great abuses, and impracticable, and therefore he thought that their voices should be heard by the Government, and that these objectionable clauses should be removed from the bill. He had spoken at length, but he trusted that they would not think he had detained them too long. (Cries of No! no!) He would now call upon the mover of the first resolution. (Applause.)

Mr. J. M. O'CONNELL had to congratulate the president upon his able, exhaustive, and lucid explanation of various clauses in this Licensing Bill now before Parliament. He was deeply indebted to him for taking from this bill its summum bonum et summum malum. The bill contained a great deal of good and a great deal of evil, and it would be a good thing if we had the collective wisdom of New South Wales here, to receive instruction from the president as to the evil of this iniquitous measure. He could not let the matter pass without inviting their attention to some of the provisions to which the most strenuous and combined opposition should be offered. When they reflected upon the great interests concerned in the proper maintenance of respectable hotels in this city, and when they considered the enormous personal responsibility and great expense devolving upon those desiring to conduct business in a proper, honest, and legitimate manner, it was no wonder at all that this measure should be recognised as one of the most grave and vital importance to the people of this community. The bill now before them contained several sections. One of them, as they were aware, had been already condemned at a meeting of the freethought gentlemen at the Temperance Hall on Friday night, and he thought that this meeting's condemnation of the first and primary section of the bill, would be the means of deterring Sir Henry Parkes from going on with the second reading of the measure on next Thursday night. He believed that this bill, fraught with such great evils to the public interests, never emanated from the statesmanship and great intellect of Sir Henry Parkes, or he would give him little credit in future. It struck him that it had emanated from the bare-brained individual who might be his parliamentary draughtsman and not from the Premier. (Hear, hear.) That reformation and improvement were necessary in the liquor and licensing law of New South Wales, they all admitted, and all had courted it for some time; but a wise and prudent revision and consideration of this measure should have been entered into by the Government before jumping off as they had done to grapple with it. In the breast of every man was implanted the sentiment expressed by the gifted Edmund Burke, "The first innate principle of man, when he enters or leaves the world, is that of justice and fair play." If Sir Henry Parkes were the author of this bill, he had divested his mind of all this. He would digress to compliment the Press of the colony upon the honesty and ability it displayed, and to hope that the members of it would help them in ameliorating the grievances of this measure. The advocates of temperance in this city and colony should go in to help the licensed victuallers in bringing about a satisfactory settlement of this question. They should aid and assist them if they wished to have the morals of the people of this country free from contamination, and he invited Mr. Holdsworth and his people to join them to bring about the settlement which our grave and more momentous interests required. Without selfishly opposing or bring the Government to oppose a good law, it was their bounden duty and their most sacred obligation, one and all, to aid the Government of our country to bring forward good measures. If he believed that this measure was calculated to effect reform, he should laud and commend the Government for their exertion to rectify the question, but he firmly believed that it would be attended with graver evils than the existing Publicans' Act of New South Wales. (Hear, hear.) He would refer Sir Henry Parkes to the old Act, the one that preceded the present. That old Act contained a provision which he thought should be embodied in any new one; that any publican, before getting a license, or having it renewed, should come to the magistrates or the Licensing Bench with two securities for his character. If that were continued a good many degraded men, now a disgrace to the trade would be out of it. (Hear, hear.) They had no sympathy with café proprietors or keepers of low dens. (Hear, hear.) He must revert to the system of espionage by which power was given to the police to enter an hotel at any hour, and gratify spite and malice. It was a dangerous and tyrannical power, which would be used despotically as it had been before by subordinate policemen. (Hear, hear.) The whole of the licensing power of New South Wales rose against it, and it was taken from these men, and now Sir Henry Parkes was trying to give it to them again. With regard to the classification of hotels, he thought the system of classification proposed by the bill would not make the hotels one iota more respectable. It was all very well for a few gentlemen, some few months ago, at the time of the public excitement over the excise duties and the increased duties on wines and spirits, to tell Mr. Watson that they were agreeable to pay a £100 license. He thought those gentlemen could not have carefully considered the matter. No doubt there were some amongst them who were able to pay a £100 license, but the publicans as a body could not afford to do so. If we were to have a system of classification of hotels, it should be on the basis of trade, not upon the basis of the number of rooms a house contained, which was no criterion or guarantee of the amount of business a house transacted. He denied the statement that publicans held a monopoly. The Licensed Victuallers held no greater monopoly than any other tradesman; and what the publicans held they paid very dearly for. (Hear, hear.) He did not consider the three-roomed hotels, according to the provisions of the bill, would be calculated to raise the standard of business. They would very likely become dens, because no publican could get an honest living in such contemptible hovels as three-roomed public houses. In hotel businesses, the sale of liquor had to be amalgamated with accommodation for the people, and what accommodation would be afforded in these three-roomed hotels for visitors? (Hear, hear.) This Licensing Bill would aim a heavy blow at houses in Woolloomooloo or Surry Hills, or Strawberry Hills, and he believed that, instead of £30 being the license for houses in these suburbs, £15 a year was as much as they could pay. For, after all, what were the publicans as a body in these suburbs doing? Why, they were scarcely able to make a respectable living; in fact, they were only working for the merchants and brewers and now Sir Henry Parkes was found imposing on these publicans a burden they were unable to bear. With the increased duties on wines and spirits, it came with a bad grace from the Government of this colony, who could go, if they wished to raise the revenue, to other sources from which they could raise revenue, without pressing unduly on the community. (Hear, hear.) He believed that the Colonial Treasurer, being frustrated in his attempt to raise revenue from the excise and stamp duties, had suggested to Sir Henry Parkes this obnoxious means of supplementing the revenue. The licensed victuallers would prove themselves abject-minded individuals if they did not stand up now and resist this obnoxious measure. In order to resist this iniquitous piece of legislation, the publicans, one and all, in the city as well as in the suburbs, should heartily co-operate towards that end, and he hoped they would enter their firm and determined protest against this barren, despotic, and tyrannical measure as proposed by the Government—a Government which it was well known would shortly have to go before their constituents. The general election would be the time for the publicans to mark with disapprobation and condemnation the action of such avowed representatives as would attempt to impose on them burdens which they could not bear. In conclusion, he trusted they would watch the progress of this bill through the House, although he was of opinion that Sir Henry Parkes would not go on with the bill, and that, moreover, he was ashamed of the measure, and was afraid to own its paternity. That meeting was certainly a representative one; but he hoped they would have a monster public meeting of the citizens to protest against the provisions of this measure—a measure which they should endeavour to cast out of sight, and substitute in its place a measure which would leave them free from police surveillance and despotism, a measure which would be administered by respectable judges or recorders, and not by the packed, crooked benches of magistrates that they had lately had in Sydney—a measure which would be free from the unjust provisions of this Licensing Bill. He would move the following resolution:—"That after mature consideration this meeting, though for long desiring an amendment of the licensing law, is of opinion that the new Licensing Bill now before Parliament is injurious and unjust, and in some respects even tyrannical, in its provisions alike to the public and the publican, and deprecate the passing into law of such an unsatisfactory measure."

Alderman J. D. YOUNG seconded the resolution. He thought that this bill savoured somewhat of hasty legislation. The matter required legislation, but that legislation should be of such a character that while it dealt out justice to the general public, it would not heap injustice on one section of the community.

The resolution was then put, and carried unanimously.

Mr. S. HODGE proposed the second resolution as follows:—"That this meeting pledges itself, collectively and individually, to oppose by all legitimate means the passing into law of that portion of the new Licensing Bill that treats of public house licenses." He thought that the Council proposed to be established by this bill was a falacious one. While they had such a precedent as the mother country, where the matter was under the control of a recorder, they might well point to such a law for our legislators to copy. He would go now to the classification, which, in his opinion, pointed to boarding houses. Let them go to the boarding houses, where licenses are not paid; Mr. Bath could show them a boarding house that took out more bottled beer than a publican did, but which paid no license fee. Let them see what this £75 was for. Those who were shareholders in the Coffee Palaces wanted to be shareholders in the boarding houses too—they wanted to take all the boarding business from the publicans and give it to the Coffee Palaces. There was another thing. He was a family man, and liked to hear a little music from his children; but this bill would prevent him from teaching music to his child. The publicans were a necessary section of the community, and he hoped that every man who held a license would do his best to suppress the infamous bill which he held in his hand.

Mr. WALTERS seconded the motion. He objected very much to the bottle clause. He had seen the evil of this system in Victoria, where under this system grocers supplied women with grog, and put it down in the bill as tea and sugar; and then the publican got the blame of making the woman drunk. It was unfair to the publican to let these people sell single bottles, because the publican was so much more highly taxed. He also drew attention to the evil of the brewers holding so many licenses and putting people into public-houses.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. SHEPARD SMITH moved the next resolution,—"That a petition embodying the foregoing resolutions be presented to Parliament, praying that the House of Assembly, in its wisdom, may see fit to reject such portions of the new Licensing Bill as pertains to the licensing of public-houses." He did not deem that the resolution would meet with any opposition, but he desired to say a few words before he sat down. He gave Sir Henry Parkes credit for the authorship of this bill, for it was what might be expected after his increasing the duty on spirits. This bill struck a blow direct at the liberty of the publican. He objected to the composition of the licensing board. The Inspector-General of Police was to be an ex officio member of the board, and he would have the appointing of the inspectors under the Act. It would then only be natural to suppose that Mr. Fosbery would be always ready to side with his own men rather than the publicans. He would sooner see a Recorder have the power of granting licenses. The clause relating to the renewal of licenses was very objectionable. The power of three persons to lodge an objection against a renewal would render it impossible for a publican to take any part in municipal matters, for there are always two sides, and he would be sure to offend some one. If even he refused drink to three men, they could subject him to the annoyance of an objection to the renewal of his license. He also objected that the publicans should have to keep their lamps alight after their business hours were over. He did not not object to doing away with the Sunday business, but he objected to have a trap laid for him. The onus of proof was thrown upon the landlord, and how was it possible for him to tell whether a man had travelled ten miles on that day? This bill, if it passed into law, would be ruinous alike to their property and their prospects. They asked the Legislature to mete out to the publicans that measure of justice which was granted to every other class of traders. When the duties on spirits were increased the license fee should be rather lowered than raised. He called upon the licensed victuallers to be unanimous. If they had been united, Sir Henry Parkes would never have dared to bring in such a bill as this.

Mr. SHARMAN seconded the motion, which was put and agreed to nem. con.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman, and three cheers for the Queen, closed the proceedings.

Sailed: 12th Southern Cross, for South Sea Islands; 22nd, Ephemey, for Auckland; 24th, Pearl, for Noumea; 28th, Marion, for Noumea. The Marion encountered a terrific hurricane on the night of March 9 off the New Caledonia reefs on her late passage hence to Noumea, with live stock. The glass had given indications of a storm of uncommon violence being about to occur, and every preparation was made. With the first "heft" of the storm the vessel was brought to the wind under a closed reefed foresail, behaving splendidly; but the hoops of the sail soon gave way, the vessel surging into the trough of the sea, and a fearful time was experienced by the crew; sea after sea came on board, the vessel at one time being on her beam ends. The scene, as described by Captain Austin, was inconceivably terrible—sheep washing about the decks, the horses all to leeward, fighting and shrieking like wild demons, and the wind howling and roaring. After superhuman efforts, the vessel was got before the wind and better weather experienced. The morning brought more moderate weather, but the cargo (consisting of 29 horses, 54 sheep, and a few tons of onions and potatoes), was, with the exception of one horse and four sheep, entirely lost. Two days afterwards arrived at destination. The gale commenced at E.S.E. by S. to S.W., from which latter point the full force of the blow was experienced, calming down there; glass, 28·80. The Marion left again for Noumea, with horses and sheep, on Wednesday, April 28.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORTS.—MAY 10.

South Australia: Cloudy and showery on coast, fresh S.W. winds, falling barometers and rough sea on E.; rain, at Adelaide 0.120, Cape Borda 0.040, and Robe 0.140. Victoria: Squally and showery, with rough and very high sea on coast; barometers falling, wind strong from S.W.; rain, at Melbourne 0.650, and Portland 0.270. New South Wales: Cloudy generally, with strong cold westerly winds; falling barometers, and moderately heavy sea on coast. For rain measurements, &c., see weather map, page 6. Queensland: Brisbane reports light S.W. wind, falling barometer, and smooth sea, weather fine and clear; Cooktown, dull and threatning, with strong S.E. wind. 3 p.m. Observations.—New South Wales: Eden, S.W., 14, raining, little sea, temperature 50.; Albury, W., cloudy, temperature 56°; Goulburn, W., dull, temperature 56°; Forbes, W., cloudy, temperature 69°; Wentworth, S., 42, cold, temperature 65°; Moruya, S.W., 20, rain, thick weather, and easterly swell setting in; Cape George, S.W., 42, light rain, heavy sea, temperature 54°; Sydney, W.S.W., 30, cloudy, moderate sea, temperature 60°; Newcastle, W., 28, fine, moderate sea, temperature 69°; Port Macquarie, S.W., 42, fine, moderate sea, temperature 63°; Clarence River, W., 8, fine, moderate sea, temperature 69°. The heavy S.W. to S. gale which has been blowing on the coast of Victoria since Saturday still continues, and the barometers show little change—they are still very low about Eden, and high in South Australia. It will be seen by the weather map that the S.W. wind extends right across the country from Portland to Brisbane; and the 3 p.m. observations from this coast speak of a S.E. sea setting in from the continuance of the polar current. State of Rivers:—Murrumbidgee—At Hay, 11 feet 9 inches above summer level; at Balranald, 9 feet 6 inches above summer level. Murray—At Euston, 7 feet 6 inches above summer level.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY EVENING.

The Stock and Share market opened to-day with less business doing in bank stock. There was a stronger feeling in some, holders asking an advance on Friday's prices. The only transaction was New Zealand at 19¾, and sellers at that price; City had buyers at 11½, sellers at 11¾; Commercial, fully paid, wanted at 96, held for 97—new issue salable at 71½, offered at 73; buyers of Joint Stock at 14½, sellers at 15¼; Mercantile better, 5¾ offered, 6 asked; New South Wales unchanged—buyers at 50¼, sellers at 50¾; Queensland National salable at 6¼, held for 7; Union for sale at 62, the best offer was 60. Steam shares steady; buyers of Australasian at 16¾, sellers at 17½; Clarence and Richmond neglected; sellers at 6, buyers of preferential at 13; Hunter River inquired for at 6¼, holders asked 7; buyers of Illawarra at 5⅝, sellers at 5¾; North Shore Ferry wanted at 14s. 6d., none for sale. Insurance shares steady; Accident had buyers at 6d., sellers at 1s.; the only lot of Australian Fire in the market changed hands at 6s. 6d.; for General, 70s. was refused; City and Mercantile unchanged; New South Wales firmer, 56s. 6d. buyers, 60s. wanted; Pacific dearer, 60s. wanted, buyers at 58s.; Sydney Fire were not offered, buyers at 56s. 6d.; Sydney Marine salable at 33s., sellers at 36s.; United advanced 6d., sales at 38s., sellers at 39s. 6d. Gaslight steady, buyers at 12¾, sellers at 13; new issue wanted at 4½. Sydney Exchange had buyers at 9; and Pyrmont Bridge at 6; no sellers. Shale and Oil wanted at 9s., held for 10s. Volunteer land orders sold for 90. Coal shares firmly held: Bulli wanted at 10, sellers at 12; Wallsend for sale at 13½, buyers at 10s. less; for Waratah 7¼ wanted, 7¾ asked. Great Cobar took another turn in favour of sellers, 51s. paid, then holders would have accepted 1s. less. In Gold the only transaction was in Band and Albion at £6 14s., closing with buyers at 6¾, sellers at 7; Krohmann's easier—buyers at 4s. 9d., sellers at 5s. 3d.; Star of Peace wanted, at 2s. 4d., held for 3s. 3d.; Hustler's had buyers at 5s. 6d., pups had sellers at 2s. The only debentures offered were New Zealand fives at par, and no buyers; City of Sydney sixes for sale at 103, wanted at 101; New South Wales four per cents. could be sold at 94, and fives at 108.

In the import markets business was extremely dull. There was a lower tendency in breadstuffs owing to English advices; best Adelaide flour had sellers at £11 10s. for parcels, £11 15s. for small lots, say a ton or two; for wheat 4s. 7d. would be accepted. There is a stronger feeling in Dundee goods; late sales of cornsacks for New Zealand have reduced stocks here very much, and we hear of a purchase of 150 bales woolpacks at 3s. 4d. for side, 3s. 5d. for end. There is more demand for chicory, 6½d. duty paid refused for a lot to arrive. Private cablegrams confirm the news regarding a fall in iron, the latest price of pig being lower now than it has been for months, but values are expected to have seen their lowest. The decline in galvanized is said to be 30s. per ton. In South Sea Island produce we note the quittance of two lots recently to hand per steamer, and a transaction in pearl-shell pending. There is an inquiry for teas as no news is yet to hand of the new crop having opened at any of the China ports. In local produce there was not much done. There was but a poor attendance at Darling Harbour this morning, and a marked lack of animation pervaded business. The bidding throughout was listless, and sales were effected with difficulty, even at low rates. Best oaten hay in trusses and bundles fetched from 5s. to 5s. 5d., and medium qualities about 4s. 6d.; bales realized from 4s. 9d. to 5s. 3d. for best and from 4s. 6d. to 4s. 8d. for medium. Oaten and wheaten hay, in bales, was very dull of sale, and only brought up to 4s. 9d. for the best lots forward. Wheaten bundles realized from 3s. to 4s. 2d. Two trucks only of lucerne were to hand, and being of very indifferent quality they brought only 2s. 6d. and 3s. respectively. Straw and chaff were almost the only articles that did a decent trade, and even for those the prices realized were not first-class. Straw brought from 2s. 9d. to 2s. 10d. for bales, and from 2s. 10d. to 3s. 2d. for bundles. Chaff of the best description brought from 5s. 3d. to 5s. 7d., while medium sorts realized from 4s. to 4s. 10d. Prime old and sound Windsor corn was worth from 3s. to 3s. 1d. per bushel, bags included; and some new and very green grain which was submitted for sale realized from 2s. 3d. to 2s 6d., without bags. Pumpkins sold at from 1s. 3d. to 1s. 8d., and potatoes at from 2s. 10d. to 3s.

The Alexandra (s.), from Queensland ports, brings 20,190 oz. gold.

Melhado and Curtis report the following yield from the Band and Albion Consols G. M. Co. for last week:—565 tons of quartz, yielding 358 oz. of gold. A dividend of half-a-crown per share is declared payable at Ballarat 12th May.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

TUESDAY, MAY 11, 1880.

The protest against the clauses of the new Licensing Bill which propose to establish a censorship over public halls as well as theatres is a reasonable one, although it must be confessed that two or three of the considerations urged at the public meeting on Friday evening were not very forcible. It may be stated that the new bill provides two classes of licenses for places of public entertainment instead of one as hitherto. The first embraces theatres, and the second buildings of all descriptions in which lectures, public meetings, concerts, or entertainments of any kind are held. Any person holding an entertainment or a meeting without a license is to be liable to a fine of not less than £20, and not more than £100; and any holder of a license who uses it on a Good Friday, a Christmas Day, or a Sunday without the permission of the Colonial Secretary is also liable to be fined to the extent named. We can hardly think that these clauses have been carefully considered, but we cannot imagine that they have been put into the bill with malice prepense. There is no ground for thinking that they have been aimed at Sunday lecturers; there is less reason to believe that they have been inserted at the instigation of the clergy. The clergy have faults enough, but they are not usually chargeable with inspiring the framers of Acts of Parliament; and if they were to be indiscreet enough to offer their assistance in this line, the presumption is that it would be peremptorily declined. Clergymen as a body would claim that they are quite as much interested in freedom of speech as their critics, and large sections of them have fought the battles of that freedom which is so freely used and so jealously guarded. There are persons who believe that if any evil is going on in the world the clergy are at the bottom of it, just as in the old days of conflict between England and France it was NAPOLEON who "Made the quartern loaf and Luddites rise,

And filled the butchers' shops with large blue flies."

The probability is that the clergy will look with as little favour on the clauses in question as the rest of the community, since, if they are enacted, they may place the same restrictions on ecclesiastical as on other property.

Equally far from the point was the contention that the proposed public-hall license was but a carrying out of the policy which prohibited the holding of public meetings in the parks. The two things have nothing in common. The parks regulations were framed for the purposes of securing public order, and not for those of suppressing free speech. Those regulations dealt with public property, the clauses in the Licensing Bill propose to deal with private property. The former legislated against a real evil, the latter propose to legislate against what is to a large extent an imaginary one. The question which the parks regulations decided was, whether a handful of citizens should have the right to monopolise property which belonged to the citizens as a whole. No such question is involved in the present instance. The public-hall license proposed in the new bill starts on the assumption that the interests of the community require that the censorship which the Government has hitherto held over theatrical entertainments shall in future be extended to entertainments of all kinds. We have no doubt that the Government itself will discover that in this age of the world such legislation goes too far, and it will probably turn out that the introduction of these clauses is a pure inadvertence. It is of importance that the Government should have the power to put a stop to any entertainment which may violate public decency or involve a public nuisance, and it is as necessary that this power should extend to public halls, so called, as to theatres. We may go farther, and admit that there are some classes of music halls that are far more objectionable than theatres of any kind. There can be no reasonable ground for taking exception to the exercise of a public control over these establishments. We have recently passed an Act which is intended to prohibit the circulation of obscene or immoral prints, and the arguments for extending this censorship to the Press will apply to its extension to the platform. But the Act referred to does not propose to reach obnoxious prints by placing an embargo on the Press in general. It deals with the evil to be secured by a direct and not by a roundabout process. A Licensing Bill should proceed on the same principle. Not the slightest occasion has arisen for putting all places of entertainment under Government surveillance, and none is likely to arise. When abuses turn up the Government should have a right to deal with them, but it can very well wait until they do turn up. There may be no very definite reason why theatres should be placed under Government censorship while public halls generally are allowed to be a law to themselves; but though there may not be a logical distinction between the two things, there is a sentimental distinction, which the public have shown no disposition to disturb. If public opinion is satisfied with the present mode of licensing public entertainments, Parliament may also be satisfied. Entertainments which might very well be licensed, are sometimes given in public halls; but while we might reasonably license amusements, we are not prepared for the licensing of lectures and meetings. In carrying licenses from theatres to halls, the difficulty will be to know where to stop. The less the Colonial Secretary has to do with any public lectures or public meetings that citizens may desire the better. His legitimate work lies in another sphere.

It ought to be some consolation to Sir HENRY PARKES that if his financial measures get altered against his wish he is only in that respect in the same box with other great men of his time. We heard some time ago by telegraph of Prince BISMARCK's resignation. By the papers now to hand we find that what thwarted him was an alteration made by the Bundesrath or Federal Council, in one of his taxing bills. The tax on post-office orders was cut out. At this distance the point does not seem of enormous importance. Yet it was on this that the man of blood and iron threw up his post in dudgeon. He has borne a great deal in the course of his long and chequered life, but that there should be no stamp tax on post-office orders, that the Imperial Chancellor could not endure. Every man draws the line somewhere, for patience has its limits, and the levier of five milliards draws it at money-order stamps.

Prince BISMARCK knows when to resign, and when to pocket an affront. He can be implacable or placable, obstinate or yielding, passionate or calm, expository or silent, according to circumstances. He knows how to be all things to all men, in the way they do not like, but in the way that makes them useful to his purposes. Intrinsically he cares as little about money-order stamps as about midsummer flies, but it suited him to pose before the German public as thwarted by the Federal Council. Germany is one, and it is not one. It is united, but it is not consolidated. Prussia leads, but the annexed provinces often pull against it. BISMARCK wants to make Germany strong, that it may act with vigour, promptitude, and unanimity against any of the enemies that might attack it. In the military sense it is strong, because the army is thoroughly organized. The orders from head-quarters would be obeyed instantly. But this despotism does not and cannot run through the political life of the country, and the Government is restrained by the localisms and particularisms which find their representation in Parliament. On many occasions the Chancellor has tried to break the links of this federal chain which binds him, and he is never weary of educating the nation into the idea that there must be be more concentration of power. It is this which at present dissociates him from the Liberal party, and throws him into the arms of the aristocracy and the Church. He has no particular liking for the aristocracy, and he certainly has none for the interference of the Romish Church in the ecclesiastical affairs of Germany. But BISMARCK aims steadily at one purpose which is to make Germany ready at all points either for attack or defence. This seems to him a great deal more important than freedom of speech, or liberty of the Press, or Parliamentary representation. Therefore he is ready to unite with anybody who would help him to oppose what he considers to be the troublesome remnants of German separateness. When he has got the unity that he desires—if he lives to get it—then perhaps he will hold quite a different language about the Falk clause. At present his object is to make the Federal Council more amenable, and not to allow the provincial representation to overbear the Imperial power. He is not an admirer of universal suffrage, yet he is not above making use of its principle as an occasional argument, and he points out that, by the representation of States in the Bundesrath, a majority of members often represent a minority of people. Precisely the same difficulty is being experienced in the United States, where in the Senate, which is elected by States, a vote for Rhode Island counts as much as a vote for Texas. Of course federal representation might be put on the same basis as that of popular assemblies, but at present this has not been done, and if it were done, distinctive localisms would be practically submerged. The battle which BISMARCK is waging with provincialism in Germany draws the attention of the world to what is necessarily the weakness of the federal system; but it is the urgency of the case, in the great Chancellor's view, that makes him so impatient of the slowness of the cure that might come by the process of time. No one can say when France may consider that the time has come for its revenge. No one can say when the Russian Government may be forced, by popular pressure, into a war with Germany, just as it was forced into the war with Turkey. In the Chancellor's view there is no time to be lost, and Germany must be smelted to a more complete unity as quickly as possible, even if the furnace has to be seven times heated for the purpose. He is a clear-sighted man, and when he sees a distinct danger he does not care to temporise with it.

The same lesson as to the occasional weakness of a federation has been taught by the United States. The first union was a very loose one, though it was as close as the feeling of localism and the independence of the several colonies would then tolerate. Another war with England was necessary to intensify the feeling of union. Even then the perilous principle of state sovereignty survived, and that has only been killed by a disastrous civil war, costing a million lives and four hundred millions of money. The federal union may at times be the only possible form of union and may be better than disunion, but none the less is it necessary to notice its inconvenience.

This criticism is important, because if the Home Rule party is to convert Mr. GLADSTONE, it will turn the Constitution of Great Britain into a federation. It has been explained at great length that the local Parliament asked for Ireland is not intended to promote separation, but only to promote local government, and that it is expected to be the precursor of similar Parliaments for England, Scotland, and Wales. Whether it is expedient that a minority of five millions should impose such a change on the rest of the United Kingdom is a separate question; but supposing such a change should be carried out, the British Constitution would be transmuted into a federal one, and it might not gain in strength by the change.

Some of the country criticisms on the Sydney Tramway proposals are curious. As might be expected, the proposals are, in some instances, regarded with anything but favour. Country representatives are in the habit of thinking of Sydney as a cormorant that is constantly devouring funds that belong to the interior, and, if we may judge from opinions which sometimes reach us, the notions expressed by the representatives of the people are occasionally shared by the people themselves. By a few of our contemporaries, a good deal of ridicule is cast upon what is called the tramway fever. The tramways are objected to partly because they are so much inferior to railways, but chiefly, it would seem, because they cost so much money, and money which belongs not to Sydney but to the colony as a whole. £2,000,000 of public money, we are told, is about to be spent in the vicinity of Sydney. This is the complaint which is being emphasised in different parts of the interior. Strangely enough, this complaint sometimes comes from localities to take railways to which the State is spending scores and seven hundreds of thousands of pounds. The colony has spent altogether from ten to twelve millions of money on railways. A large amount of this has, of course, tended to facilitate communication with the metropolis; but not a sixpence of it has been spent on metropolitan railways. Nearly one-third of the population of the colony resides within the city and suburbs of Sydney; but although for five and twenty years past we have been carrying railways into various parts of the interior, the means of transit in the metropolis remain what they were. This is the state of things which some of our friends in the country would like to see perpetuated. They would have the metropolis contribute their share of the revenue, but when it is proposed to give them their due proportion of the expenditure the cry is that the country is being fleeced for the sake of Sydney. The policy that would suit people of this class would be the one which gave the country everything and Sydney nothing. Such a policy would be as bad for the country as for the town.

The ordinary drift of discussions when deputations wait upon a Minister strongly recalls to mind the infantile diversion known as "cross questions and crooked answers." Exception must be made, however, of a deputation which Mr. Service, the present Premier of Victoria, received last week. The questioners were certainly never more amazingly at cross-purposes; but for once the answer they received was uncompromisingly straight. The deputation consisted of delegates from several farming districts, and their object was to ask that the present duty on feeding grains might be increased. One delegate—and also Mr. Longmore, Mr. Berry's Minister for Lands, who accompanied the deputation as backer—took high moral ground. Victorian farmers were, they urged, unable to compete with Queensland and the South Sea Islands, and it was iniquitous to expect that they should be pitted against a system of semi-slave labour. But others insisted, with equal decision, that the Victorian farmer could not compete with the farmers of New South Wales or New Zealand either; a singular inability which was not in any way accounted for. The New Zealanders especially were regarded as formidable. Whether they have fitter climate or richer soil to aid them, or whether they are more industrious or more skilful than Victorians, was not stated. Simply the Briton settled in New Zealand is able to cultivate feeding oats so economically or efficiently as to be able to pay the charges of conveyance from the farm to the ship, and of transit by sea to Melbourne, and there undersell the Briton settled in Victoria. These New Zealanders in fact are, according to one heart-broken agriculturalist among the deputationists, such terrible fellows that when the rates of carriage of produce on the Victorian railways was lowered to benefit local farmers, they actually took advantage of the fact to send their intrusive oats to the inland towns, flooding those markets, and underselling the appalled farmers in their own districts. At Ararat, for example, the hard-pressed local farmer could get only about 1s. 6d. per bushel for his oats, according to one speaker. According to another the New Zealanders were selling wheat at just that price in inland markets, and as the estimated cost of shipment, wharfage duty, commission, and railway carriage which the New Zealander would have to pay amounts to 1s. 1d. or 1s. 2d., it appeared that the Victorian farmer, while realizing a net eighteen pence per bushel, is being ruined by the New Zealand farmer, while the latter pockets but four pence or five pence a bushel. The import duty now stands at 1s. per cental, and the deputation suggested an increase of another shilling, making, with other charges, a loading of about 1s. per bushel upon the "foreigner," the result aimed at being to bring the market price, at present down to about 1s. 6d., up with a bound to 3s. 6d. The arithmetic of the calculation was in very good keeping with the logic displayed by the deputation. By adding about 6d. to eighteen pence they were to get 3s. 6d. as the sum. Mr. Service, unluckily, appeared infatuated with old-fashioned methods of addition and reasoning, and proved insensible even to demonstrations so convincing. Expressing his unaltered conviction that two and two only made four, and not five, he introduced a new and confusing element into the question by asking what was to be done about the cabmen, who earn a bare subsistence even when the price of feeding grains is low! A brave deputationist suggested that when prices were raised the cabmen should become farmers. It is pleasing to observe that, despite the strong provocation, Mr. Service, while decisively refusing to lend himself to the selfish and futile schemes of the deputation, forebore to retort by suggesting that while prices remained low the farmers should become cabmen.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

One of our cable messages from London, yesterday, stated that a powerful syndicate has offered to construct a railway connecting the Queensland lines with Port Parker, on condition that they receive a land grant of 8000 acres per mile. Port Parker is a recently discovered port on the shores of the Gulf of Carpentaria, in the Queensland territory, in about latitude 17·25, longitude 139·25, to the southward of the Wellesley Islands. The anchorage is between Allen Island and the main land. The Great Eastern could enter the harbour at spring tides, and berth at low water in the "Basin," within a mile of the shore, with several feet of water to spare. At the lowest tides many of our coasting steamers could enter. It is believed to be the intention of the Queensland Government to make a more elaborate survey of the place as speedily as possible, as they feel confident, from its position, it must become the terminus of the transcontinental railway through their territory. Besides, from its position, it is fitted to become a great shipping port for the wool from the Diamantina, Flinders, Burke, Herbert, and Lorne Rivers, and Buchanan's Creek; and for fresh meat from the Cloncurry, Leichhardt, Gregory, and Nicholson Rivers. Many thousands of cattle are already depastured on the latter rivers. For the above statement regarding the new port we are indebted to Mr. E. W. Lamb.

We regret to have to announce the death of the Hon. G. W. Lord, which took place at his residence, Kirketon, Darlinghurst Road, on Sunday night, and we believe that our regret will be very generally shared, since the deceased gentleman was widely known as a good citizen and a sterling friend. The son of the late Mr. Simeon Lord, J.P., one of the most enterprising merchants and manufacturers the Sydney of fifty years ago could show, he was born here in 1818, and when he was about 20 years old settled as a grazier in the district of Wellington, where he remained for a number of years. In 1856, upon the introduction of responsible government, he entered political life, and he represented the electorate of the Bogan from this period until the 29th October, 1877, when he was nominated by Sir John Robertson to a seat in the Legislative Council, which he held until his death. During his term of service in the Assembly he accepted office as Treasurer in the third Martin Ministry, which came into office on the 16th December, 1870, and went out on the 18th May, 1872, this being the only period during which he took a very prominent part in politics. Engaged during the earlier years of his life in pastoral pursuits, he subsequently took an interest in commercial matters, and for many years was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Commercial Bank. He accumulated great wealth, for his combined judgment and enterprise in a degree rarely encountered. His remains will be placed in the family vault at St. Martin's Church, Botany, this afternoon, the funeral procession starting from his late residence at 3 o'clock.

The Colonial Secretary, Principal Under-Secretary, and the principal officers of the Colonial Secretary's Department, took possession, yesterday morning, of the new offices at the corner of Macquarie and Bridge streets. In future, persons having business with Sir Henry Parkes, or any of the officers of his Department, will go to the new offices. The work of furnishing the various rooms is not yet completed, and it will be weeks, possibly months, before the whole of the records of the department are removed from the old to the new building. The magnificent block of buildings, extending from Macquarie-street, along Bridge-street to Phillip-street, has been apportioned to the Colonial Secretary and the Secretary for Public Works, the former occupying the rooms near Macquarie and the latter the rooms near Phillip street. In the Colonial Secretary's portion the basement will be devoted to messengers' quarters and storage of old records, of which there is a great stock to be removed from the old buildings. Immediately on passing through the main entrance from Macquarie-street to the ground floor will be found, on the right-hand side, a large and handsomely furnished room, set apart for the vice-president of the Executive Council, while on the left-hand are the Executive Council offices, and the offices of Mr. Budge, clerk of the Executive Council. On the same floor, and overlooking Bridge-street, is a lofty room, measuring something like 50 feet by 30 feet, which it is intended to use as a deputation room. Most of the other rooms on this floor are occupied by clerks. Ascending to the first floor by the staircase on the right of the entrance, the Colonial Secretary's room is reached. It is pleasantly situated in the corner of the building overlooking both Macquarie and Bridge streets, and has been most tastefully furnished. A bedroom adjoins for the use of the Colonial Secretary, and there are the usual waiting-rooms. At the other end of the corridor are situated the Principal Under-Secretary's rooms, which are reached by a staircase from the left of the main entrance in Macquarie-street. Mr. Walker has also an ante-room in which strangers await admission, and there is a private passage by which he can reach the Colonial Secretary's offices without having to pass persons awaiting interviews. The finest room in the building, however, is the Executive Council-chamber, situated immediately behind the Colonial Secretary's room, and overlooking Bridge-street. It measures about 50 feet in length by about 30 feet in width, and is proportionately lofty. The ceiling and walls are splendidly decorated, and the room is ornamented by statuary, paintings, and other works of art, some of which were much admired at the late Sydney Exhibition. The fittings and furniture are of the most tasteful character, and in every respect the room may be fairly claimed to be the finest Executive Council-chamber in Australia. The rooms on the next floor are given up to the Public Works Department, and the same Department occupies the remainder of the building facing Phillip-street.

The south-west gale which was reported on the coast of Victoria on Saturday morning reached Eden about 1 o'clock. All the morning the barometer fell fast in Sydney, and the squall arrived here at 5.40 p.m. with a sudden change of wind to west and then south-west, blowing very heavily, with a little rain. The recorded velocity for the hour from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m. reached the rate of 50 miles, the first burst of the squall lasting about five minutes, during which the velocity was about 70 miles per hour. Immediately after the squall the barometer began to rise rapidly, and continued rising until 10 p.m. As usual on Saturday afternoons, there was a large fleet of yachts, sailing boats, and rowing boats in the harbour, and the gale came with such suddenness that most of them were unprepared for anything of the kind; but, if we except the fatal accident on the Parramatta River, the casualties to yachts and other boats were of a commonplace character. The yachts of the Prince Alfred Club were caught under full fore and aft sail, and all weathered the breeze and fetched their moorings without burstings much as a ropeyarn. The Lizzie, open boat, with a crew of four hands, while making sport of the breeze got a flattener that half filled her, but as she was provided with plenty of floating power, nothing was thought of the affair, and after baling out in Mosman's Bay she went her way to her moorings. Several inexperienced boating parties were out, and as might be expected were awfully frightened, and received a thorough wetting, but nothing more serious happened in the lower part of the harbour. The weather continued squally with a strong westerly wind all day on Sunday, the velocity of the wind attaining its greatest force at noon, 3 p.m., and midnight. The squalls were the most vicious. The maximum velocity was reached at 3.20 p.m.—viz., 61 miles per hour. After midnight the wind fell gradually, and did not blow at more than 15 to 20 miles an hour throughout yesterday morning, but in the afternoon it gathered more force, and working into W.S.W. and S.W., it brought up some heavy clouds, with a shower of rain at about 6 o'clock. The breeze then fell considerably, and backing again more westerly cleared the sky of every cloud. During the morning the following weather reports came to hand:—Bodalla, S.W., showery; Kiandra, calm, snowing; Cape George, strong westerly gale and heavy sea. The weather over the colony is generally cloudy, with a wind from W. to S.S.W. Wollongong, Newcastle, Port Macquarie, moderate sea; Clarence Heads, sea smooth. The barometers on the coast were all low. The following reports came to hand at 8 o'clock last night:—South Head, S.W., cloudy, like rain, sea moderate; Newcastle, W., strong, sea smooth; Wollongong, S.W., fresh, threatening sea, raining; Kiama, S., strong, showery, sea heavy; Ulladulla, S., fine, cloudy, sea moderate; Bateman's Bay, S., fine, sea, moderate; Jervis Bay, S.S.W., strong gale, sea heavy; Eden, S., strong, raining, squally, sea moderate.

In the case of Shepherd v. Dibbs, which has been before the Courts in so many forms, a, for the present at least, final step was taken on Saturday, when the defendant was arrested on a writ of ca. sa. The amount claimed as verdict and costs was about £3600. Mr. Dibbs was taken by the sheriff's officer to Darlinghurst, where he will have to remain in the debtors' prison for 12 months, under the Imprisonment on Civil Process Amendment Act (37 Vic., No. 11, s. 4), unless the amount claimed be sooner paid. Under the Defamation Act he would have been liable to be imprisoned for an indefinite time; under the amending Act 12 months has been fixed as the limit.

In the case of Friend and others v. Fitzgerald and another, for goods sold, tried before his Honor Sir William Manning and a jury, in the Banco Court, a verdict was returned for the plaintiffs for the amount claimed, £54 1s. 7d. In Mackay v. Hassall, for damages for trespasses committed upon the plaintiff's land near Cooma, tried before Mr. Justice Windeyer and a jury, in the Jury Court, a verdict was given for the plaintiff with £15 damages. His Honor certified for costs.

Yesterday, at a meeting of the Committee of the Melbourne International Exhibition appointed to receive applications for the office of collecting, transmitting, and arranging the New South Wales exhibits, the names of two gentlemen were selected as those of the most eligible of the candidates, and it was resolved that they be submitted for the consideration and determination of the Commission, which is to meet on Monday.

At a special general meeting of the subscribers to the Glebe Hospital for Sick Children, held yesterday, Sir George Wigram Allen occupied the chair; and Lady Allen, Mrs. Baillie, Mrs. Thompson, Miss J. A. Fairfax, Mrs. Garran, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Williams, Miss Mackie, Mrs. Saul Samuel, Mr. Dangar, the Hon. Saul Samuel, Dr. Bedford, and the Hon. S. D. Gordon, were present. The sub-committee laid before the meeting the rules for the management of the hospital, and these, on the motion of Mrs. A. Thompson, seconded by Mrs. Baillie, were unanimously adopted. The hon. treasurer then drew attention to the necessity for unremitting exertions in respect to the increasing of the funds of the institution, and the meeting terminated.

A largely attended meeting of licensed victuallers was held, in the Guild Hall, yesterday evening, for the purpose of considering those clauses of the new Licensing Bill which affect the interests of the licensed victuallers generally; Mr. J. B. Olliffe occupied the chair. Various clauses of the bill deemed objectionable were keenly discussed and criticised, and it was resolved to petition Parliament against the bill.

Mr. Andrew Fairfax was, on Saturday afternoon, the subject of an accident that narrowly escaped being attended with serious, if not fatal, consequences. He had just arrived at Burwood, from Sydney, by the 2.30 p.m. train, and was near his home, when he was called to speak to a gentleman on the train going back to Sydney. Whilst standing in what is known as the "six-foot," that is, the space between the "up" and "down" lines, he was suddenly caught by the shoulder by the funeral train, which he thought had passed the Burwood station. He was thrown to the ground with great violence. When picked up he was not unconscious, but it was found on examination that his right shoulder was much lacerated. The coat he wore was torn to a considerable depth. His head was also lacerated, but the wound is not of a serious nature. The shock was sudden and severe, but it is hoped that a few days' rest will see him restored to his wonted health and strength. It would appear that Mr. Fairfax did not hear any whistle from the approaching train, which passed by the Burwood station at a considerable rate of speed.

Yesterday, at the showrooms of Messrs. Haining and Schimel, coachbuilders, of Castlereagh-street, a novelty in vehicles was exhibited by Messrs. Drysdale and Roberts, Sydney agents for the inventor. It is termed the patent two-wheeled brougham, and was designed and built by Mr. H. Samwells, carriage-builder, of Flinders-street, Melbourne, to the order of Mr. John Harris, M.L.A., of this city. Mr. Samwells has taken out a patent for his vehicle in Victoria, and intends protecting it in the same way in all the Australian colonies. The features of the vehicles are its roominess, lightness, and elegance, added to a firm, compact, and even substantial appearance, indicative of the quality which made the "one-horse shay" so famous. It is trimmed inside with maroon leather of different shades, white cloth, silk lace, and crimson silk blinds; and the more solid materials are said to be of the very best quality, and the finish which they take bears out the statement. The driver's box is placed the same as in the ordinary hansom cab; but, instead of the present inconvenient means of communication between driver and passenger, a speaking tube is provided, by which the equanimity of both is more likely to be preserved. The getting in and out of the vehicle is very safe, there being a stop on the door to strike the wheel; and it is almost impossible for a lady to get her dress soiled. An inspection of this vehicle will convince most people that it has several advantages over other vehicles of the same description, and to medical men it should prove an inestimable boon. In Melbourne, vehicles of this description are rapidly becoming popular, and there can be no doubt that when their excellences are fully known there will be a demand for them here.

Mr. John Taylor Lingen, M.A., Scholar and Prizeman of Pembroke College, Cambridge, was admitted to the N. S. W. Bar, yesterday morning, at the Central Criminal Court. He graduated in January, 1870, as Bracketed Twentieth Wrangler; and in December of the same year was placed first in the second class of the Natural Sciences Tripos. He was admitted a member of the Middle Temple in the Michaelmas Term, 1869, and called to the Bar in Trinity Term, 1872.

The first of the new waiting-rooms which have been in course of erection for some time past on the Circular Quay was opened for public use yesterday, by the North Shore Ferry Company. There can be but one opinion as to the great improvement it is over the one at present in use, and as a preventative of the disgraceful and dangerous practice of rushing the steamers in holiday times it will prove of marked benefit. It is constructed on a jetty, and covers its whole length of 80 feet, half of the space being enclosed and formed into manager's room, ticket offices, ladies' waiting-room, &c. On the other half, the roof, which is of galvanized iron, is supported on strong cast-iron fluted columns. The building as a whole has a light and elegant appearance. The plans were supplied from the office of the Engineer-in-Chief for Harbours and Rivers, and the building was erected by Mr. J. R. Bubb, of the Victoria Foundry. There are six other similar structures building round the Circular Quay, Mr. Bubb being the contractor for the whole of them, and they will prove a convenience that will be greatly appreciated by the public. They are well on towards completion, and it is to be hoped that when they are finished the Government will not keep them lying idle four months afterwards, as was the case with the one which has just been opened to the public.

Constable M'Kee took a man named Thomas Doyle from Barrack-lane, yesterday morning, at about ten minutes to 12 o'clock, to the Infirmary, suffering from dislocation of the shoulder and general shock to the system, caused by being thrown from his dray in Sussex-street, at 8 o'clock the same morning. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Brown.

We extract the following sample of misrepresentation of New South Wales that finds its way into the London Press. From the telegraphic intelligence sent via San Francisco, which appeared in the Pall Mall Gazette (and, doubtless, in several other London journals) of March 25:—"Melbourne, Feb. 24: The Victoria Irish Relief Fund now amounts to £21,350. Sydney, Feb. 26: The subscription for the relief of the Irish distress has been closed, the total amount received being £18,000." It must have been known in London that the New South Wales subscription had not closed, as remittances were sent between February 26 and March 25, and also that the amount was considerably over £18,000.

In Mr. F. S. E. Holt's letter, suggesting that a testimonial should be presented to Mr. Campbell for the very valuable services rendered by him in connection with the Strathleven experiment, the following words are incorrectly given: "A gold watch, silver-plate, or purse of sovereigns." For "or" read "and." Mr. Holt also adds that it had been suggested to him that as the matter is of so much importance to the graziers of the colonies, the amount of subscription mentioned in his former letter is too low, and that it should be doubled.

Mr. Griffiths, the hon. secretary and treasurer for the "Shipment of Fresh Meat per Strathleven Fund," informs us that he has received, per San Francisco mail, the full account sales, and that a meeting of the committee is to be held at his office on Thursday next, to pass accounts and to arrange for distributing copies thereof and the proceeds of the shipment to the subscribers.

[By Telegraph.]

(From our own Correspondent.)

MUDGEE, Monday.

There are large numbers of entries for the Bligh Amateur Club's races which will be held this year on the Mudgee Racecourse on the 21st instant. AMUSEMENTS.

THE VICTORIA THEATRE.

That marvellous mixture of vice, virtue, and extravagant sensation which, under the name of "New Babylon," is being played at this theatre, drew last night full stalls, densely-packed pit and upper regions, and a good sprinkling in the dress circle, mainly of the sterner sex. The startling changes compel the attention of the audience, and if a number of the scenes are intended for the delectation of the gods, they certainly meet with full recognition from them. The powers of the scenic artist and stage machinist have been taxed to their uttermost, and the results in their way have never been surpassed in this city. The sinking ship, the struggling passengers, make an exciting close to the prologue. There is something absurdly comic in the fact of the band playing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" while Randall is heroically struggling through the waves with the fair Eunice. The questionable glories of Cremorne, the crowds assembled at "the Goodwood," the maddening suspense during the race, and the burst of concentrated fury when poor Tiny Spurts sells the race in obedience to the command of the fickle and revengeful Bel Lorimer, form a succession of sensations in which extravagant excitement is pushed to extreme limits; while at Tattersall's, and in the thieves' den of Seven Dials, in an opposite style, the "agony" is equally "piled up." That some portions are revoltingly repulsive may be expected in such a mixture; vice largely predominates; the good people and the virtuous actions are at a great discount, though in the end the wicked get their proper punishment. The applause bestowed was very liberal. The curtain was raised after each of the many effective tableaux, and several of the principal actors were more than once recalled. How far the picture of "New Babylon" will elevate the minds or tastes of those who witness it is another question. The management have evidently spared no trouble to put it before the public in the best possible manner, and they have as evidently hit the taste of a large number of their supporters.

SCHOOL OF ARTS.

Last night Rainer's diorama of the Russo-Turkish war was exhibited for the first time in this city. Many of the most striking events in the gigantic struggle between the contending Powers are depicted on the canvas with considerable skill, and warm approval was frequently elicited from the audience. The mechanical diorama of the blowing up of a Turkish turret ship by Russian gunboats was particularly well managed, as was also the siege of Kars. The descriptive matter was delivered by Mr. H. Stanley, who in addition rendered appropriate songs during the evening. The orchestra is worthy of mention for the efficient manner in which the accompanying music is given.

M. JULES MEILHAN'S CONCERT.

We have pleasure in reminding our readers that to-morrow evening is that appointed for the concert at the Masonic Hall to M. Meilhan; pleasure, because apart from the gratification good music so generally affords, the excellent artist in whose honour the concert is to be given, deserves well from the musical and general public; and regret because the entertainment is a farewell one, and we can ill spare men of M. Meilhan's qualifications. This gentleman, for the four or five years he has been amongst us, has taken in his profession that foremost place to which his talents as a composer, his artistic powers as an executant, and his skill as a professor so thoroughly entitle him; he has, moreover, been ever ready to give his valuable services for public and private charities, and has sacrificed much time in helping on the cause of music. During the Exhibition season, amongst the pianoforte recitals those of M. Meilhan were conspicuous for the uniform excellence of his selections as well as for the high standard of their performance, and his interpretation of classic music is such as to commend itself to the admiration and appreciation of all true lovers of music. When it is remembered that M. Meilhan has, during his residence here, been a great invalid, that all his public playing has been done at great personal suffering, and that he leaves Sydney to seek renewed health in the drier air of Adelaide, more than enough reasons exist for a substantial evidence of good will in a large gathering of musical friends; especially after the scarcity of musical entertainments from which we have lately suffered.

DENILIQUIN.

Monday.

The coroner's jury this evening returned a verdict of wilful murder against William Wheelhouse for shooting Andrew Miles at Yatong Station on the 27th ultimo. Miles died in Deniliquin Hospital this morning. His dying deposition was taken on Saturday, from which it appeared that he gave Wheelhouse a watch in exchange for a horse, saddle, and bridle. Wheelhouse having got the watch, the same night attempted to take the horse away, when Miles interfered. Wheelhouse thereupon struck Miles in the face with the butt of a revolver. Miles picked up a stick to protect himself, when Wheelhouse fired, shooting him in the neck. Corroborative evidence was given at the inquest by deceased's wife. The bullet was extracted at the Deniliquin Hospital on the 29th ultimo, and Miles progressed favourably till the 6th instant, when tetanus resulted from the wound, and death ensued. Wheelhouse is an undersized youth, apparently about 17 years of age. He was committed for trial at the assizes to be held on the 21st October.

He suggested, now that commercial men were provided with an eminently suitable rallying point, that it was time they had agreed upon an exchange hour. Luncheon was then held in the mercantile room, and several healths were drunk. Mr. Byron Moore, in the course of his remarks, said that, with the permission of the Postmaster-General, it was intended to erect wires for telephones all over the city and suburbs, Mr. Welles, an experienced electrician, having come over from the United States for the purpose. THE NORTHERN COAL TRADE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

There can now be no doubt as to the ruling price of coal at Newcastle being 14s. per ton, and companies charging less are doing so in pursuance of orders booked before the rise to 14s. took place. The Newcastle Company sold a cargo this morning at the ruling rate, and Waratah and Lambton are maintaining the same terms. The demand for coal is so great for intercolonial ports that a much larger figure even than that would easily be obtained. There was a rumour that the A.A. Company intended starting work this morning, and steam was got up at the pit; but the men have not yet turned to. There is, however, a strong probability of their going on before the end of the present week, as it is generally understood that in the event of their refusal their places will be filled with fresh hands.

A Large Family.—Among other big things in America is a Dutch family numbering twelve thousand persons. In the year 1660 one Jakob Burhuis emigrated from Holland to Long Island, thence he "trekked" to Kingston city, where he purchased some acres of land. Shortly after Janus Burhuis, one of Jakob's sons, likewise came to America in his own vessel, the Dun Cow. Father and son became the founders of a family now numbering 12,000 persons, and believed to be the most numerous in America. Samuel Burhuis (now Burhans), of New York city, is said to be engaged in drawing up a genealogical table of his family.—Echo.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, MAY 10.

SITTINGS FOR CAUSES.

FRIEND AND OTHERS V. FITZGERALD AND OTHERS.

Jury: Messrs. Abraham Levy, John Rankin, J. M. Payne, and George Walbourne.

Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Messrs. Spain, Sly, and Salwey, appeared for the plaintiffs. Mr. Want, instructed by Mr. R. Burdett Smith, appeared for the defendants.

This was an action brought by Messrs. W. S. Friend and Co., merchants and ironmongers, to recover from James Fitzgerald £54 1s. 7d., the price of certain goods supplied to Messrs. Fitzgerald and Hammick, sawmill proprietors at Shoalhaven, from November, 1878, to May, 1879. Walter Hammick had also been joined as defendant, and had allowed judgment to go by default. The defendant (Fitzgerald) pleaded never indebted.

The plaintiff's case was that Messrs. Fitzgerald and Hammick came to the warehouse in Barrack-street and represented that they were about to start a saw-mill in the Shoalhaven district, and showed that they had a lease, made out in their joint names, of a portion of timber country. The plaintiffs supplied them with a saw-mill plant, for which they were paid partly in cash and partly by bills, which were eventually met. After that goods were ordered, and sent to the saw-mills, to the value of £54 1s. 7d.

The defendants' case was that the partnership contemplated had never, in fact, been carried into effect, as the defendant Hammick had never subscribed his portion of the capital, and that in September, 1878, Fitzgerald had given notice to the plaintiffs that the partnership had been dissolved, and that Hammick had leased the saw-mill, which, for the future, would be carried on by him alone.

In reply the plaintiff denied that they had ever received any such letter, or that they had received any notice that the relations between the defendants had been altered, and that when the last supplied goods had been ordered both of the defendants were present and had a voice in giving the order.

Mr. Want addressed the jury for the defence.

Mr. Pilcher replied.

His HONOR directed the jury that the defendant Fitzgerald would be liable if the partnership had not been dissolved, and if notice of such dissolution had not been sent to the plaintiffs.

The jury retired at 4.30, and in ten minutes returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, £54 1s. 7d.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER, and a jury of four.)

MACKAY V. HASSALL.

Jury: Messrs. Henry Chapman, Thomas Armstrong, Charles Roberts, and Daniel Bullman.

This was an action brought by Samuel Mackay to recover damages from James Mileham Hassall, for trespasses committed on certain lands of the plaintiff, near Cooma, in the parish of Coolringdon, and county of Beresford. The trespasses alleged were breaking fences, using water, depasturing sheep and cattle, destroying crops, and dispersing plaintiff's sheep. The plaintiff laid his damages at £500.

The defendant pleaded (1) not guilty, and (2) that as to portion of the lands—marked 111, and pre-lease No. 21—the plaintiff was not possessed.

The plaintiff's case was that he was the selector and the transferee of other selectors of a quantity of land in Manaro, near Cooma, and that the plaintiff's sheep trespassed upon it continually, and did damage to the extent of between £200 and £300.

For the defence it was shown that portion of the land claimed by the plaintiff consisted of re-selected forfeited selections, and therefore were void, and that on the other portions the trespasses were only casual, and even these were caused by the plaintiff feeding his sheep on the defendant's land.

Counsel did not address the jury.

His HONOR summed up.

The jury, after retiring for 20 minutes, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £15.

His HONOR certified for costs.

JUROR FINED.—Mr. Albert Smith, merchant, 47, Phillip-street, was fined 40s. for not attending as a juror in the Jury Court.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—MONDAY, MAY 10.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

In the matter of Henry Ridd Harper, a special meeting. One claim was entered, but stood over for better evidence, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of George Barclay, deceased, a third meeting. No debts were proved, no directions were given, and the meeting was terminated.

In the matter of James Little, an adjourned examination was called on. Mr. W. Russell, for the official assignee and creditors, applied for an adjournment, as he said that one of the persons it was principally desired to examine had only just come to town. His Honor declared the examination under the existing summons to be terminated, stating that fresh summonses could be issued if a further examination were required.

In the matter of Fernand Carton de la Bretechе, an adjourned second meeting. Two debts were proved, and the meeting was terminated.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—MONDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge JOSEPHSON.)

In the case of Want, Johnson, and Want v. W. Brett, money due for services as attorneys, £11 10s. 2d., a verdict in favour of the plaintiff was agreed to and entered.

In the case of Rachel Davis v. John Long, the defendant was charged with illegally taking possession of a house in Pyrmont View-place, of which plaintiff was tenant. He was also charged with removing a portion of the roof as well as some doors and windows which were attached to the house, by which the plaintiff's health was injuriously affected. It was sought to be shown, on behalf of the defendant, that the plaintiff permitted persons of evil repute to frequent the house, and that it was partly on this ground he, being the landlord of the house, endeavoured to get rid of her. It did not appear that the plaintiff had received reasonable notice to quit, and his Honor gave a verdict for £5. Mr. Rogers appeared for the plaintiff.

In the case of Audet v. Heinz, a new trial was granted on payment of defendant's costs.

In the case of Charles H. May v. Charles Chapman and others, Mr. Simpson, instructed by Mr. Way, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Pring, instructed by Messrs. Rofe and Gibbs, for the defendant. The plaintiff sought to recover £50 damages for being run down by the defendants' steam-launch Pacific, trading to Mosman's Bay; for being thrown into the water; and for damage done to a boat he had hired. It transpired that the person generally in charge of the launch was engaged collecting passengers' tickets at the time of the accident, and that the steering was placed under the direction of a boy-passenger. The defendants paid £5 into court, and the Judge gave the plaintiff a verdict for 20s. in addition.

In the case of Peterson v. Larnach, a verdict for £40 was consented to, subject to an agreement which would settle all differences between the parties in respect of certain furniture. Mr. Simpson appeared for plaintiff; Mr. Rogers for defendant.

In the case of Thomas Lloyd v. John Duncan, the plaintiff claimed £200 damages for slander. Mr. Simpson, instructed by Mr. C. S. Jones, appeared for plaintiff; Mr. C. Davies, for defendant. The plaintiff affirmed that on a recent occasion he and the defendant, with several ladies and gentlemen, were passengers in a 'bus in Sydney together. After being in the vehicle a short time, the defendant said, "Ladies, mind your pockets, as we have a notorious character here whom I have known for a number of years. I will watch. I make no mistake. I know him well. As soon as I see policemen, I will introduce you to them. They know you as well as I do." These and other slanderous words the plaintiff said were addressed to him, and led to several ladies, appearing very suspicious of and removing from near him. They passed a police-station and some policemen on their way, but the defendant did not offer to give him in charge, but said something of "letting him off this time." Plaintiff's evidence was corroborated by several persons, and evidence of his respectability was proferred and received. The parties were strangers to each other. The defendant said that the plaintiff on coming into the 'bus placed his hands on his knees, and subsequently moved one of them towards a lady's dress; he withdrew it from thence, and subsequently the defendant saw it between a lady's dress and her pelisse; he clasped it then, and said, "Stop that; if you have any money, ladies, you had better take care of it." He denied using any other words or doing anything else in connection with the matter. A verdict was given for the plaintiff for £30.

In the case of R. D. Graham v. John Hurley, £46 11s., money due, was claimed. Mr. Simpson, instructed by Mr. Way, appeared for plaintiff; Mr. Rogers, instructed by Mr. M'Laughlin, for defendant. After hearing evidence, his Honor gave a verdict for £24 18s., with interest.

In the case of Dare v. M'Fadyen, money due, a verdict was entered for £11 5s. 5d.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—MONDAY, MAY 10.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT.)

Before the first case was called on, Mr. John Taylor Lingen, of Middle Temple, was introduced to the Court by the Attorney-General, and welcomed as a member of the Bar of New South Wales by his Honor the Judge.

LARCENY.

James Millard pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing 12 gold albert chains and other jewellery, the property of Robert Cooper. A previous conviction was proved, and prisoner was sentenced to three years' imprisonment, with hard labour.

BIGAMY.

William Ernest Jorden was charged with marrying, at Newtown, one Catherine Foster, his former wife being at the time still alive. Prisoner pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

MURDER.

John O'Brien, Henry Sykes, and John Scawen, charged with murdering Patrick O'Sullivan, at the Glebe, on March 31, pleaded not guilty. Mr. F. L. S. Smythe, to be instructed by Mr. Roberts, was assigned by his Honor for the defence, the trial being postponed, in order to allow of counsel being instructed in the case.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

William Chapman and James Chapman, charged with attempting to murder Thomas Riddle, at Coal Cliff, pleaded not guilty. Mr. Lingen was assigned as counsel for the defence, Mr. Curtis being assigned as solicitor.

BURGLARY.

Mark Kilkenny, a young man in the uniform of the Permanent Artillery Force, was arraigned on a charge of burglariously entering the premises of Thomas Campbell, Phillip-street, and stealing therefrom certain goods, and money to the amount of £1 8s. 0½d.

The Attorney-General (Hon. Robert Wisdom) prosecuted, prisoner being undefended.

The evidence showed that the prisoner was recognized by the prosecutor as the man who had been in his room on the night the burglary was committed, and by whom he had been awakened; that similar goods to those stolen from the premises had been found in prisoner's possession; and that his cap was found on the premises.

For the defence witnesses were called to show that prisoner had similar goods to those claimed by prosecutor in her possession prior to the alleged burglary.

The jury after a short retirement returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

FORGERY.

Matthew Carroll was charged with forging a cheque of the value of £10, at Goulburn, on December 10, and also with uttering the cheque, knowing it to be forged. The evidence for the prosecution pointed plainly to the guilt of the prisoner; whose defence, contained in a written statement, and unsubstantiated by witnesses, was that he had written to his uncle for money, and that he received the forged cheque by post; that believing it to be all right he paid it away, and subsequently, finding that payment was refused, he presented it at the bank, and when payment was delayed he went day after day to try and collect it. This, he considered, went to show that he knew nothing of the forgery. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and sentence was deferred.

The same prisoner was then charged with forging and uttering a second cheque to the same amount. The evidence given was to the same effect as in the last case. In this case the prisoner made no defence; and the jury found a verdict of guilty on both counts. Sentence was deferred.

The Court then adjourned till next day.

MARINE BOARD.

The usual weekly meeting of the Board was held yesterday afternoon. There was a full attendance of members, and Captain Hixson, president, occupied the chair.

The finding of the Board, with reference to the loss of the Lady Emma, was as follows:—"The Board find that the Lady Emma was lost by the default of the master, who appears to have been stupified by the effects of drink, and to have left the deck when he was relieved from the wheel at the time when the tug steamer cast off, and was, with considerable difficulty, aroused when the ship was in imminent danger. He lost his life by his refusal to leave in the ship's boat, or to accept assistance, which was promptly rendered by the pilot steamer's boat. The Board wish to place on record their appreciation of the gallant conduct of Manuel Zupa, the coxswain of the pilot boat, who courageously swam to the wreck with the view of endeavouring to save the master. The Board is not satisfied with the conduct of August Anderson, the mate, who does not hold a certificate, but who should have been in possession of one, considering that the Lady Emma was a coaster of over 100 tons. As he does not hold a certificate, however, the Board have no other remedy than to reprimand him for not making more efforts to get the captain on deck, or take prompter steps to prevent the vessel drifting on the North Head.

The next case was an inquiry into the loss of the ketch Sea Bird. From the evidence of the master, John Russell, it appeared that he held a certificate as master for service on the coast trade; the Sea Bird was laden with timber bound to Sydney; she was reasonably laden; she had about 30 bundles of shingles and two casks of tallow on deck, weighing altogether about a ton; she had about 30 tons weight of cargo; she was full; they left Lake Macquarie on Saturday last, about 6 o'clock, the wind being then N.W.; at 8 p.m. a squall came up from the S.W., and they reduced sail; the storm increased in violence till the morning; finding they could not get to the southward they tried to make for Newcastle: but the wind headed them; a heavy squall then came up from the west, and caused the vessel to become unmanageable; he tried to luff her up, but in doing so she capsized; when they found the vessel was going over they cleared the boat away; three of them saved themselves in the boat, but the fourth man was drowned; his name was John Milthorpe, and his age 23; it was his first voyage; the boat was full of water when we got into her; we got the boat out clear, and after bailing her out went back to try and save deceased, but he had disappeared; she capsized about three and a-half miles off Bird Island Point; we were afterwards picked up by the Reliance schooner, and brought on to Sydney; the vessel was tender through being over-sparred; it was the intention of the owner after this trip to take her to Newcastle, and have four feet taken off the masts; they were an hour in the boat before being picked up by the schooner; so far as witness knew she was not insured; they lost everything by the wreck; they did all they possibly could to save deceased. The two seamen also gave evidence, one of them (Alexander Nicoll) stating that just before the vessel capsized deceased and he were standing together on the rail, when deceased said, "Alec, she's going down;" Nicoll said, "Yes, make a spring;" they then sprang together, but Nicoll did not see deceased afterwards. After a short deliberation, the finding of the Board was as follows:—"The Board, after having carefully considered the evidence that has been adduced in the case of the loss of the Sea Bird, and having come to the conclusion that the said vessel was lost in consequence of being upset through being struck by a heavy squall from the westward, are of opinion that no fault can be found with the master."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.—ITS UNEQUALLED EFFICACY IN CASES OF CHRONIC COUGH.—This celebrated Oil has been most extensively and successfully used in the treatment of Chronic Coughs. It effectually corrects the morbid action and deposits of the mucous surfaces of the throat and bronchial tubes, and speedily allays the irritation which produces frequent and prolonged coughing. Dr. Hunter Semple, Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, writes:—"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil introduced into medical practice by Dr. De Jongh, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I can fully believe that, from its richness in chemical principles, it is superior in efficacy to many, or perhaps all, of the pale-coloured oils. I have found Dr. De Jongh's Oil very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption." Dr. De Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil is sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists and druggists. Sole Consignees—Ansar, Harford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

At the opening of the Central Police Court, yesterday, Mr. Hunt being the only justice on the bench, Mr. Carroll referred to the death of Mr. J. Walter Smart, and asked his Worship, out of respect to the memory of the deceased and for the accommodation of several gentlemen of the profession and of the officers of this court, who wished to evidence their regard to the deceased gentleman by attending his funeral, to adjourn the court at an early hour. Messrs. Robey and Fitzgerald also spoke in eulogistic terms of Mr. Smart as a magistrate and a man. Mr. Hunt said that he would consult the Police Magistrate as to the propriety of acceding to Mr. Carroll's request for the adjournment of the court.

Several magistrates, professional gentlemen, and gentlemen connected with the Central Police Department having expressed a desire to attend the funeral of Mr. J. W. Smart, J.P., Mr. Crane at 1 o'clock postponed the untried cases in the Small Debts Court until Tuesday.

Yesterday the Police Magistrate was assisted on the Criminal side by Messrs. Hunt, Hardie, Beaumont, Davies, Harris, Guy, and Tucker; and on the Summons side by Messrs. Alexander, Fraser, and Ball.

John Clune, 9, the boy who was on Saturday convicted of larceny, was brought before the Bench charged under the Industrial Schools Act with habitually wandering about the streets in no ostensible lawful occupation, and was ordered to be sent on board the Vernon training ship.

Arthur Reilly, 12, was brought before the Bench on warrant at the instance of John Riley, his father, a vanman, residing at the Glebe, who charged him with habitually sleeping in the open air. His father said that the boy would not stop at home; he was once convicted of stealing, and has been from home for five weeks; he had no control over him. Mr. Davies said it was a very discreditable statement for any father to make in respect of a child like this before the Court. He was ordered to be sent on board the Vernon.

John Jones was found guilty of having wantonly assaulted Constable Pannell by striking him on the head with a stone, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of £5, or to be imprisoned two months.

Catherine Troy, convicted of being a common prostitute, behaving in a riotous manner, and Bridget Armstrong, found guilty of vagrancy, were each sentenced to be imprisoned six months.

Elizabeth Cassilis was sentenced to pay a penalty of £5, or to be imprisoned three months for using obscene language.

Joseph Tickle, having neglected to obey an order of Court for the separate maintenance of his deserted wife, the sum of £7 being due and unpaid in respect thereof, was committed to gaol until such arrears shall have been paid.

Thomas A. Lloyd was ordered to pay 15s. a week for the support of Susannah Lloyd, his deserted wife.

Ah Wong, Lee Lo, Jing Jon, Ah Ching, Ah Ting, Ah Kee, and Ah Ping were charged as being the keepers of a common gaming house. Messrs. Roberts and Carroll appeared for the prosecution and Mr. Gannon for the defence. Sub-inspector Rush deposed between 7 and 8 o'clock on Sunday evening, he proceeded, accompanied by sergeants Lawler and Keating, and several other members of the police force, to execute a warrant at No. 61, Goulburn-street, in this city, to ascertain whether or not the premises were used as a common gaming house; the defendant Ah Ping was acting as door-keeper, and on entering they found the six others engaged at a table; on seeing the police defendants before the Court snatched up whatever was on a table before them, and with twenty-eight others rushed into another room and fastened the door; he and the police with him burst the door, and apprehended the whole thirty-five; he charged the defendants with being the keepers of a common gaming-house. At this stage the case was adjourned until after lunch. When the Court reopened Mr. Rush identified twenty-eight Chinese as persons found by him on Sunday night in the house of which defendants are the keepers and conductors. [They were one by one discharged from custody, and served with summonses, returnable on Wednesday.] Charlie Ah Lee, of Castlereagh-street, lodging-house keeper, deposed that he knows defendants and the house of which they are the keepers and conductors; it is a gambling house frequented by Chinese; he has frequently visited it, and witnessed gambling, and engaged in it himself, for some time—more than a month; was there when the police broke in on Sunday evening; he had been playing, and lost about a couple of shillings; Ah Ping was doorkeeper, and the other defendants were the bankers; the game is called fan-tan; dominoes, dice, cards, Chinese coin, and a stick are used as the implements of gaming; the bankers hold the stakes and pay to the winners; their profit is one penny in every shilling won; any amount of money was on the table when the police came in, on seeing whom the defendants snatched it up; play is carried on every day, and at all hours of day and night; on Wednesday night a Chinese sailor lost £20, and left his watch as security for the money, whilst he brought it on the following day. By Mr. Gannon: He was not apprehended by the police; he could not say why; he did not give any information to the police, nor did he expect to meet them there. See Woa deposed that he knows all the defendants and their house; Ah Ping is the doorkeeper, and the others are the bankers or conductors of the play; he has several times been there, and has both won and lost; he was there on Sunday and lost a gold ring at play, and was there when the police came in; this book (handed to him) contains the names of some of the defendants viz., the managers, and in another are entries of losses and winnings. [It was at this stage too dark to write the deposition, and the Court adjourned, remanding the defendants until Wednesday.]

WATER POLICE COURT.

Yesterday Mr. Marsh, P.M., was assisted on the Bench in the Charge Court by Messrs. Sladen and Gray.

A large number of drunkards were brought before the court and were disposed of in the usual manner.

John Miller, charged with entering into enclosed land, to wit the Inner Domain, without lawful excuse, was ordered to pay a fine of 40s., or to go to gaol for fourteen days.

Thomas M'Donald, for indulging in riotous behaviour in Watson-street, Balmain, was fined in the sum of 40s., with the alternative of fourteen days' imprisonment.

Michael O'Brien, was fined 10s. for riotous behaviour in Kent-street, and an additional fine of 20s., or seven days in gaol, was inflicted for assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty.

In the Summons Court the business was disposed of by Messrs. Jeanneret and Reading. There were a number of cases on the sheet for assault, the majority of which were either withdrawn or dismissed, while in three instances nominal fines were inflicted. In James V. Bently against George Buckley, a proceeding for the detention of a boat, the defendant agreed to deliver over the boat by noon on Tuesday on the payment of £5 15s.

KATOOMBA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Having recently visited Katoomba, I can fully endorse all that was said by your special reporter as to its picturesque beauties; these were so graphically described that there is little left for me to add on the subject. Vivid as was the picture drawn by him, it falls short of the reality, which must be seen to be properly appreciated. It will be a source of satisfaction to many to know that the Government has promptly responded to the appeal made to them through various channels to open up a new road (that originally surveyed having by some blunder been allowed to pass into private hands) to this favoured locality—so, at least, I gather from observing during my visit a track evidently recently marked out by the Government surveyors to the waterfall point and fern glen. It may be safely predicted that the Government will not allow any of the points of interest to be alienated, and that Katoomba will before long become one of the most favourite resorts of visitors to the Blue Mountains. Yours obediently, E. L. M.

SUMMARY OF NEWS FOR TRANSMISSION TO EUROPE, VIA SUEZ.

From April 22 to May 11.

POLITICAL.

It will be remembered that at the time our last summary was published, Parliament had adjourned in consequence of Mr. Fitzpatrick, the leader of the Opposition, having given notice of a motion of censure. The motion came on for discussion on Wednesday, April 28; there was a large attendance of members, and the galleries were crowded. There was, however, very little anxiety displayed by the Ministers or their friends, for it was pretty well-known from the first that the motion would be lost by a large majority. The circumstances out of which the matter arose may be briefly re-stated thus:—Soon after the commencement of the session Mr. Copeland, the representative of the Northern Gold-fields, moved in committee of the whole, that it was expedient to bring in a bill to authorise mining on certain private lands, and to this he added—all in the one resolution—the request by message from the Governor to cover the expenditure contemplated under the bill. The Government allowed the motion to go unchallenged at the time, although they had not then seen the bill, and were utterly ignorant of its contents. The matter was delayed in consequence of Mr. Copeland's illness, but when he moved the second reading of the bill, exception was taken to it on account of its not having been introduced by a message. Sir Henry Parkes then took occasion to say that the Government having now seen the bill, and disapproving of it, were not prepared to recommend his Excellency to send down a message in connection therewith. On the next night of meeting Mr. Fitzpatrick gave notice of his motion of censure in the following terms:—"1. That, in the opinion of this House, the refusal of the Government to advise his Excellency the Governor to send down a message recommending that provision be made for carrying out the objects of the bill to authorise mining on private lands, as prayed for in the address to his Excellency unanimously adopted by the Assembly on the 21st November, 1879, is disrespectful to this House, and contrary to Parliamentary usage. 2. That the foregoing resolution be embodied in an address to His Excellency the Governor." In moving it, he complained bitterly of the Press for having condemned his resolution before hearing what he had to say in support of it, and denied that he had caused any waste of public time by his motion, since he had brought it forward at the earliest possible opportunity. He contended that the Government had failed most unconstitutionally in refusing to obey an order of the House, and affirmed that the only course open to them, when they found they could not approve of the bill, was to have brought up a motion to rescind the order of the House. He instanced the case of a motion by Mr. M'Elhone for the establishment of cattle sale-yards, which the Government disapproved of, and which they caused to be rescinded. Sir Henry Parkes, in reply, said: "He would not occupy very long in dealing with this motion, and he thought he would be able to show clearly that it could not be entertained as a matter of fact. He considered that he could show conclusively to any person acquainted with the subject that the course he had pursued was not disrespectful to the Assembly nor contrary to Parliamentary usage, and he would include the usage of the House of Commons, as well as that of the Parliament of this country. In spirit and letter he had done nothing in this matter but which even the Ministers of England continually did, and he would maintain that, so far from his action being contrary to Parliamentary usage, the practice which had grown up here was an innovation of sound Parliamentary usage. The cases cited by Mr. Fitzpatrick had no bearing whatever upon this question. The motion of Mr. Copeland was simply a request for a message, and was not an order of the House; it would be preposterous not to permit the Brown to exercise its judgment. He quoted precedents from the practice of the British Parliament to show that the course taken by the Government was not unconstitutional, and denied that the Government had either shown disrespect or intended any towards the House. The question was debated somewhat briefly by Messrs. Copeland, Onslow, Jacob, Coonan, Farnell, Garrett, Huntley (H.), and Greenwood, after which the motion was put and negatived by 35 to 9. The House then went into committee on the Electoral Bill, and proceeded as far as clause 8. A bill introduced by the Government to allow of Mining or Temporary Commons was read the second time, and passed through committee.

On Thursday, April 29, the Legislative Council read a second time the Secret Bills of Sale Act Amendment Bill, as amended in select committee. Several of the clauses were subsequently carried through committee. The Temporary Supply Bill for April was passed through all its stages, and returned to the Assembly. The principal business in the Lower Chamber on the same evening was the further consideration of the Electoral Bill in committee of the whole. Several amendments were proposed regard to a system of certificates for electors, and for an improvement in the mode of collecting the rolls, but the respective clauses were carried substantially as introduced. A long debate took place on the question of whether the University should have a representative, which was carried in the negative by 27 to 15, the Government being divided upon the matter. Clause 11, relating to the qualifications of electors also evoked a lively debate, but the clause was passed without amendment.

On Friday, April 30, the Legislative Assembly carried a motion for compensation to a free selector, named Johanna Connelly, after which Mr. Coonan, member for the Bogan, moved a vote of censure on Mr. Hoskins, the Minister for Lands, in the following terms:—"That the conduct of the hon. the Minister for Lands, when interviewing members of this House who accompany their constituents in reference to the administration of the Land Laws of the colony, is highly censurable." Messrs. Buchanan, O'Connor, Day, and R. B. Smith spoke to the motion, but all in eulogy of Mr. Hoskins. Mr. Coonan called for a division, but was alone on the side of the ayes, consequently the motion was negatived.

The Legislative Council, on Tuesday, May 4, commenced with the second reading of a bill to legalize the conditional purchase of forfeited selections. Some amendments were made in committee, and the bill was reported. The remainder of the sitting was occupied in the consideration of the Assembly's message with regard to the Council's amendments in the Land Bill. It was resolved to adhere to certain of the amendments, but to give way upon others. In the Assembly, on the same evening, Mr. Ninian Melville, the newly-elected member for Northumberland, in the room of Mr. Thomas Hungerford, resigned, took the oaths and his seat. Mr. Buchanan moved that all State-aid to what were known as the affiliated colleges should be withdrawn at a date to be fixed by law, and that the Government should introduce a bill accordingly as early as practicable. He argued that as Parliament had shown by its decisions on the Education and other questions that it was opposed to the pernicious principle of State-aid to religion, the continuance of aid to the affiliated colleges, in which dogmatic theology was taught by different sects, was inconsistent with public policy. Mr. Suttor was the only member of the Government who spoke to the motion. He hoped the hon. member would withdraw his motion, as the aid to the colleges was authorized by statute, and there would not be time in the present session to consider the question. The resolution was negatived on a division of 29 to 7. On the motion of Dr. Bowker, the second reading of the Medical Bill, which had lapsed in consequence of a count out, was restored to the paper.

Sir John Robertson, in the Council, on Wednesday, May 5, moved the second reading of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage bill, which was agreed to, and considerable progress was made with the clauses in committee. The bill to authorise mining on temporary commons was read the second time, and further consideration was given in committee of the whole to the bill to provide for the acquisition of lands for public purposes. On the same day, in the Assembly, Mr. Hoskins obtained leave to go into committee for the purpose of introducing a bill to validate certain leases of oyster beds. The rest of the sitting was occupied with the further consideration of the Electoral Bill, which was dealt with as far as clause 52.

On Thursday, May 6, the Legislative Council dealt with a number of measures. These included the Forfeited Purchases Bill, which was read the third time; the Merriman Church Land Sale Bill, which was read the second time; the Secret Bills of Sale Bill, further considered in committee; the Betting Houses Suppression Bill, read the second time and carried through committee; the Sydney Corporation Act Amendment Bill, read the second time and carried through committee, and the Cattle Sale Yards Bill further considered in committee. In the Legislative Assembly, on the same evening Mr Buchanan moved the adjournment of the House with the object of directing the attention of the Government to the injustice done to suitors in the Supreme Court owing to the continued absence of some of the Judges from the bench, whereby the transaction of business was delayed. He said it would require two new Judges for twelve months to bring up the arrears, and that the Judges who were unable to discharge their duty in consequence of their delicate health should resign, instead of asking for leave of absence again and again, to the exclusion of other members of the profession of robust health and ability who might be appointed in their places. Mr. Wisdom concurred in a good deal of the remarks of the hon. mover. There was no doubt that the state of business in the Supreme Court at the present time was unsatisfactory. He intended to ask Parliament to renew the Temporary Judges Bill, and to appoint an additional temporary Judge besides Mr. Windeyer for a period of twelve months, in order that the arrears might be brought up. The Government obtained leave to introduce a Census Bill, and the House then resumed the consideration in committee of the Electoral Bill. Clause 53, enacting that contested elections should be tried by the Supreme Court, instead of by the Elections and Qualifications Committee, excited a lengthened debate. The proposed change was opposed by Mr. S. C. Brown, Mr. Cohen, Mr. Melville, Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Macintosh, and Captain Charles; and supported by Mr. Garrett, Mr. Greenwood, and Mr. Dillon. Sir Henry Parkes explained that he was personally opposed to the change, and that the question was an open one with the members of the Government. The clause was negatived on division by 25 to 10. The consequential clauses, from 54 to 101 inclusive, were then withdrawn. The House then went into committee to consider the Council's message respecting their amendments in the Land Bill. The amendments were agreed to on a division of 15 to 8.

The principal business transacted in the Legislative Assembly on Friday evening was the consideration of the Small Debts Act Amendment bill, which was read the second time, and carried through committee.

SOCIAL, &c.

The announcement that Captain Mathieu, the popular Commissioner-General for France at the late International Exhibition, is about to be removed from amongst us, was received with feelings of regret by all who have come in contact with him. He has received intimation from his official head, the Minister of the Navy, to resume his naval duties, which have been interrupted for a period of nearly twelve months through his connection with the Exhibition. During his stay in Sydney Captain Mathieu has collected a very large amount of valuable information on which to found a report on New South Wales; and he intended to do the same in Victoria, and to personally visit the other colonies of Australasia with a like object. But his sudden recal has prevented his carrying out the project, and he has now to leave in an unfinished state what would probably have proved the most valuable and interesting report on Australia that has ever been prepared by a foreigner.

The Minister of Mines has received a communication from the Minister for the Interior, Belgium, expressing the thanks of the Belgian Government for a collection of minerals presented to it by the New South Wales Government. The collection is to be placed in an institution similiar to our Museum of Mines, as it is considered extremely useful from an instructive point of view. So gratified were the Belgian Government with it that they offered to reciprocate the consideration extended to them in any way which lay in their power.

A special general meeting of the Committee of the Irish Distress Relief fund was held at the Town Hall, on April 26, for the purpose of closing the fund as far as practicable, and preparing a final statement of accounts for presentation to a meeting of the subscribers. According to the treasurer's statement, the total amount received up to the 24th April was £27,511 5s. 6d., and the total amount transmitted to Ireland was £25,000, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurers of £2300 10s. 8d. It appeared, however, from telegrams and letters that had been received that further sums were forthcoming. It was resolved to remit at once a further sum of £2000 to the Mayor of Dublin. It was also decided that a general meeting of subscribers to the fund should be held on the evening of the 11th May, for the purpose of receiving a full statement of the accounts, and that further subscriptions should be received up till the date of that meeting.

On April 24, at the railway works, Redfern, a presentation of a valuable Waltham gold watch was made to Mr. William Scott by the members of the Great Southern and Western Railway Workmen's Sick Society, in recognition of services rendered as hon. treasurer to it from its formation, extending over a period of 16 years.

At a meeting of the committee of the Irish Distress Relief Fund, it was unanimously resolved that the committee, in order to mark their appreciation of the zeal, energy, and great services rendered by the treasurers and secretaries, should invite his Worship the Mayor (Mr. R. Fowler), Mr. P. A. Jennings, C.M.G., Mr. John T. Toohey, and Mr. Daniel O'Connor, M.L.A., to a picnic down the harbour on Wednesday, 12th instant.

The official declaration of the poll in connection with the election of an auditor for the Australian Mutual Provident Society took place on May 4. For Mr. J. F. Paige: Personal votes, 3387; 747 proxies, with votes 4619: total, 8006. For Mr. W. G. Robey: Personal votes, 1420; 891 proxies, with votes 4523: total. 5943. For Mr. John Cameron: Personal votes, 508; 513 proxies, with votes 1860: total, 2368. There were 24 informal personal voting papers, and 388 informal proxy papers.

The police have succeeded in closing several disreputable cafes in the vicinity of the theatres, and other places.

A number of German residents of Sydney have formed themselves into a club, called the "German Smoking Club Ulk," that is to say, an association for mutual entertainment.

In connection with the Technical or Working Men's College, in the lecture hall of the Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts, Dr. Beattie, of Parramatta, M.R.L.A., delivered a lecture on "Digestion."

Messrs. T. J. Bown and Co. have completed, to the order of the New South Wales Government, a first-class manual power fire engine, intended to be stationed at the Institution for the Insane at Gladesville, for the protection of the buildings there. It is so constructed that it can draw its water either from suction-pipes or from cisterns.

A new lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars, under the original Grand Lodge, was instituted by Mr. L. E. Harcus, G.W.C.T., assisted by a number of the members of the executive, at Ward's Assembly Rooms, Pitt-street, on April 24.

On April 24, in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. John F. M'Crea, the representative at the Garden Palace of a large Parisian manufacturing firm, and who arrived here from France only a few months ago, delivered an interesting address on Mr. R. W. M'All's Gospel Mission to the working people of Paris.

With the view of inculcating the duty of kindness towards animals, the managers of the Animals Protection Society have arranged for a series of prizes for the best written essays upon "Man's duty towards Animals," to be competed for by pupil teachers and scholars in the public and private schools of the colony. The prizes offered to pupil teachers are of the respective values of £2, £3, and £5; and to scholars of from 12 to 14 years of age, £1, £3, and £4. Other prizes, such as books, &c., will be given for such essays as shall be highly commended.

The ballot for the election of directors for the Australian Mutual Provident Society has resulted as follows:—Mr. J. H. Goodlet: Personal votes, 3909; voting papers, 9967; total, 13,876. Mr. S. A. Joseph: Personal votes, 1417; voting papers, 9737; total, 11,154. Hon. A. Campbell: Personal votes, 4281; voting papers, 5498; total, 9779. Messrs. Goodlet and Joseph are therefore elected.

A meeting of the committee of the District Grand Lodge of Freemasons under the English Constitution was held at the Freemasons' Hall, to decide the basis on which the scholarship at the University should be founded. The District Grand Master, Bro. John Williams, stated that the fund was now within a trifle of £1000, and the sooner the matter was settled the better. He tabled a series of resolutions which were discussed at some length. It was unanimously agreed that anything like patronage on the part of the Grand Lodge was to be carefully avoided, and that beyond certifying to the eligibility of the candidate upon his presenting himself for examination, the Grand Lodge should not dictate in any way to the University authorities. It was decided that no son of a Freemason should be qualified unless his father had been a regular subscribing member to an English constituted lodge for five years, and that he should have been a subscribing member to a lodge in the colony working under the English constitution for the last twelve months. In case, however, of a boy whose father had died some time before the former was fit to compete for the scholarship, or who had fallen into destitute circumstances, exception was to be made, at the discretion of the District Grand Master.

John Oxford, a man who, according to his own account, at one time shot at the Queen, was charged at the Melbourne City Police Court with vagrancy. He was recently convicted of larceny at Sandridge, and, on his discharge, he was re-arrested as a vagrant. The Bench remanded him for seven days, for medical inquiry.

The new Education Act came into force on the 1st May, Sir John Robertson having accepted ad interim the new office of Minister of Education. We understand that regulations have been framed under the 37th section of the Public Instruction Act of 1880, with a view of their being laid before Parliament, as the Act requires. These regulations, however, will be superseded as soon as others more exactly adapted to the provisions of the Act can be framed. It was considered necessary, both for the officers and teachers, that there should be some regulations brought into force with the least possible delay, and those now framed are intended to meet that emergency.

The Hon. J. B. Thurston, Colonial Secretary of Fiji, was entertained at a luncheon on board the A. S. N. Company's steamer Katoomba, on April 29. Several leading citizens and members of the Ministry were present. Sir Henry Parkes, in proposing the toast of success of the A. S. N. Company, complimented the company upon the extent of their operations, and the enterprise they had displayed, and said he saw no reason whatever to doubt that our communication with Europe would ere long be carried on by some of the steamers of this company. This remark was received with significant applause, and Mr. Cadell, one of the directors, said that it was astonishing what proposals they might entertain on the basis of a small subsidy.

A Darling squatter has written to the Argus to point out that Melbourne might get the Darling trade by running a railway to the Murray, opposite to Wentworth. This is a project that has been frequently mooted, and may some day be realized. There is, however, no local traffic at present to justify it, and the prospect of the annual wool traffic is anything but certain. The river traffic that has centered in Echuca has been due to the fact that river transit beats the drays. But it will not beat the railway, and there is nothing to show that the Echuca traffic could be easily diverted to another point lower down the river. Our line that goes to Hay may some day be continued to Wentworth and the South Australian border, and if any of the Victorian lines were extended to opposite Wentworth that would become a junction from which any of the three capitals could be reached.

Mr. H. C. Russell, the Government Astronomer for New South Wales, has prepared a pamphlet containing tables showing the result of rain measures and the monthly heights of the rivers above mean summer level in this colony during the year 1879, further illustrating the subject by a map showing the relative amounts of rain and the positions of the stations, and a diagram showing the daily state of the rivers from March, when the observations were commenced, to the end of the year. The compilation is one which must have involved a vast amount of labour, and the information it contains will be found both interesting and valuable, especially to residents in the interior parts of the colony.

The committee of the National Shipwreck Society held a meeting, at the Exchange, on the 6th May. In reference to the death of the late Captain Shorter, the following resolution was passed and ordered to be placed on the records of the society:—"That this society, having heard of the death of their late respected colleague, Captain William Shorter, desire to place on record their high sense of the loss this society has sustained, with the expression of their regret at being deprived of the valuable services he has so willingly rendered since their foundation." It was decided to present the silver medal of the society to Mrs. Mary Boldt, for her heroic conduct in navigating the schooner Moorburg into Moreton Bay under most difficult and trying circumstances.

The announcement that the Orient Steam Company intend to fit up their fine steamers with apparatus for taking to England meat and other produce of Australia has been received in the colonies with unbounded satisfaction. The directors of the company could probably have taken no step which would in an equal degree have tended to enhance its popularity on this side of the world, and to advertise its devotion to Australian requirements than that which they have just announced. The public has been on the tip-toe of expectation in reference to the means of conveying, by the newly demonstrated process, the surplus produce of Australia to the home markets. At just the right moment, both for effect and for service, the Orient directors declare their resolution immediately to fit up their steamers with the desired appliances, and to place their conveniences at the disposal of all comers. Thus a preliminary difficulty is effectually disposed of at the very moment when it was making its presence felt. If the company acts but as promptly as it appears to have come to a resolution, the trade opened up by the spirited charterers of the Strathleven will very speedily be put upon a regular and constant footing.

At a meeting of the officers under the late Council of Education and teachers, held in the Fort-street Model School on May 8, it was unanimously resolved to present an address expressive of thanks to the Council for their unvarying kindness and consideration to the teachers and others under them. The address is to be handsomely engrossed, and will be presented at a meeting to be held for the purpose.

We take the following from a country contemporary:—The sudden death of an elderly gentleman who had been a tutor in some private families, and known as Mr. H. S. Russell, occurred a few days ago. This was an assumed name; the deceased claimed to be the eldest son of the late Duke of Marlborough, but having quitted the family mansion through some love affair about forty years ago, he enlisted for a soldier, and the family at home, with whom he has never communicated, thought him dead years ago, and his younger brother, it would appear from a communication he once addressed to Mr. J. B. Elworthy, assumed the title of Marquis of Blandford and succeeded to the Blenheim estate. The real name of the deceased was Charles Spencer Churchill. Letters in Mr. Elworthy's possession will help to prove his identity, should it be needed."

THE EXHIBITION.

Our last summary contained an account of the closing of the first International Exhibition held in the Southern hemisphere; and it is admitted on all sides that, hastily as it was originated and carried out, it has proved a very great success. The exhibits are rapidly passing out of sight; large quantities have been sold, and the remainder is being packed up for transmission to Melbourne, together with many of the show cases which adorned the Sydney Exhibition building. The building itself is not to be removed at present, but all the annexes, with the exception of the Fine Art Gallery, will at once disappear. Though the attendance did not equal the anticipations formed by some who had not given much thought to the subject, a fair and candid consideration shows that in respect of the measure of public support the Exhibition received, it has been highly successful. The attendance at the opening was not so large as most people thought it would be; but that was due to a variety of causes. The weather was wet and stormy, and prevented visitors travelling by land and sea. Again, the time of the year was inopportune for persons engaged in pastoral pursuits. And no doubt the incompleteness of the Exhibition for the first few weeks induced many persons to postpone their visit. Afterwards the attendances were well sustained till the close of the Exhibition. The total attendance, exclusive of workmen, was 1,045,898. The largest public assemblage was on Anniversary Day, January 26, when 27,500 persons were present. The attendance of visitors up to the closing of the Exhibition gave a percentage to the colony's population of 143. It would be difficult to fix the actual cost of the Exhibition, but it is roundly estimated that it will not fall far short of a quarter of a million sterling; but against this has to be set the receipts (about £43,000), which have covered the current working expenses, and the value of the buildings as they stand.

FINE ARTS.—REPORT OF THE JUDGES.

GROUP.—SCULPTURE.

European.—We have not considered that we were called upon to classify seriatim these works, many of which issue from the studios of artists of established reputation; we have, therefore, confined ourselves to the selection of exhibits in each branch of the class which we consider deserving of the first place, adding a few remarks on the collection generally. Noel H. Louis, France, "Rebecca" (marble)—1st special; A. D. Doublemard, France, "Education of Bacchus" (bronze)—1st special; C. B. Birch, Great Britain, "Retaliation" (bronze)—1st special; A. Bruce Joy, Great Britain, "First Flight" (terra cotta), "Provost of Oriel" (plaster medallion)—1st.

Among the remaining exhibits in marble we would draw attention to:—Th. Vicente, Belgium, "The Captive;" E. Aizelin, France, "Une Merveilleuse;" F. Sanzel, France, "The Soap Bubbles;" G. Fontana, Great Britain, "Cupid Captured by Venus," "The Prisoner of Love," "La Sonnambula;" D. W. Stevenson, Great Britain, "Nymph at the Stream;" Pietro Calvi, Italy, "Arianna Abbandonata."

With respect to the bronzes, we would speak of the whole group exhibited by France as deserving the highest attention. Forming a collection of which few, if any, equal specimens have previously reached this colony, it appears almost invidious to select any for special remark, but we consider the following as deserving high commendation:—F. A. Bartholdi—"Genius in the Grasp of Misery;" E. Deplanche—"Boy on Moving Tortoise;" D. Ringel—"A Flute Player;" H. de Vauréal—"The Little Gleaner."

The single specimen exhibited by Germany, Ferd. von Miller—"Carib Indian"—is also deserving of high commendation; and we must also draw attention to Belgium, Jean A. Laumans,—"Exercise;" and to Great Britain, T. Woolner, R.A.—"Alfred Tennyson," and "Charles Dickens."

Terra Cotta Modelling.—We also draw special attention to the four statuettes by the Belgian artist, Polydore Comein, entitled "Bird for the Cat," "Summer," "Winter," and "Little Mother," and to the larger works by the Belgian artist, C. Weiner, "Mutual Love," and by the English artist, A. Bruce Joy, "The Fairy Tale."

In plaster, the medallions by A. Bruce Joy, English artist, from which we singled one for 1st award, should be specially noticed; also, a design for a fountain, exhibited by A. Castner and Co., Germany, and placed in the grounds near the west entrance to the main building.

Non-European.—In this class, Ceylon, Japan, Queensland, South Australia, and the United States afford no exhibits. New Zealand and Tasmania exhibit, in the former case, a marble, and in the latter, a plaster bust of aboriginals of the respective colonies, which, though highly interesting in an ethnological point of view, cannot be classed as works of art. In the New Zealand court there is also a carving in Oamaru stone, of "Birds and Foliage," by L. Godfrey, deserving high commendation. New South Wales exhibits six marble busts, by A. Simonetti. These works rank beyond any other colonial exhibits, and bear favourable comparison with the few works in portraiture modelling in the European courts. We should select as deserving first place, "Bust of the late Commodore Goodenough, R.N." Four plaster busts by the same artist, are deserving of similar commendation; first place being given to a bust of his Honor Judge Faucett. Honourable mention is also made of an original composition by the same artist, entitled "The Venus of the South," and of a bronze medallion, by Mons. Henry, entitled "The Empire of the South." Victoria exhibits no works in this class which call for any special notice.

CLASS 402.

European.—Belgium: O. Arens, repoussé work (so-called), considered as more properly coming under this class, as pressed work—3rd.

Non-European (Colonial Work).—Queensland: R. Capner, National Agricultural and Industrial Association of Queensland—silver and bronze prize medals, 2nd award.

CLASS 404.

European.—France: G. Bissinger, collection of cameos, intaglios, engraved gems—1st. Italy: Frankati and Santamaria, shell cameos—4th.

Non-European (Colonial Work).—Victoria: Stokes and Martin, engraved dies and medals therefrom—1st; Ernest A. Altman, engraved dies and medals therefrom, medals in metal (oxydized) of aboriginals, animals, &c.—2nd.

CLASS 405.

European.—Austria: Z. J. Jackell, wood-carving on panels, foliage and scroll work—1st; F. Unterberger, wood carvings (figures) "Eagle Slayer" and "Poacher"—1st. Italy: Enrico Fiacchi, carved frame—2nd; Egisto Gajani, carved brackets (frames)—3rd; Saul Gamberai, carved brackets (frames)—3rd; Francesco Morini, carved brackets—frames—3rd; Ferdinando Romanelli, carved album cover, (brackets) frames—3rd.

Non-European (colonial work).—New Zealand: L. J. Godfrey, New Zealand crab and shells (ornamental designs for panels)—1st. New South Wales: J. H. Ferriss, carvings in wood—3rd; Archibald Murray, carvings in wood ("Royal coat of arms")—4th.

Special Recommendation.—Japan: The only exhibits brought under our special notice were two small carvings in ivory, and one in (supposed) boxwood. We consider, however, that it is within our functions to express our opinion of the unrivalled excellence in the moulding and sculpture of natural objects, and particularly of animal life, shown throughout the exhibits in this court. For cast and chiselled work in bronze, carving in wood and ivory, and modelling in plastic materials, we recommend that the highest distinction of the first degree be awarded. We are unable to specify by name the artists of greatest merit, and, therefore, recommend the award in favour of the exhibition as a whole.

GROUP.—PAINTING.

CLASS 406.—PAINTINGS IN OIL ON CANVAS, PANELS, &C.

As in classes 400 to 405, we have dealt separately with European and non-European exhibits, considering that justice would not be done to the latter if brought to the same standard of classification as the former.

European.—In dealing with these exhibits—371 in number—we have also considered it advisable to avoid extended classification, and have confined ourselves to the selection of exhibits in each class which we judge to be deserving of the highest awards in each branch of such class, calling attention to others, and making a few remarks on the collection generally. We have not considered loan works as coming into competition.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that nearly one-fifth of the whole collection of oil paintings has been selected for special commendation; but it may be here recorded that more than double the number of works were submitted for that distinction in the separate returns furnished by six judges, which—at conference—were thus adjusted. In a collection of such numerical extent, appealing to so many diverse tastes, it has been difficult to refrain from drawing attention to a large number of details of special interest and merit; these have not been omitted from any lack of appreciation of them on our part, but rather with a view to keeping our report within more reasonable limits. As the oil paintings in the Art Gallery have been perhaps the most generally attractive feature of the International Exhibition, and form a collective exhibit of high educational value, we venture to suggest to the Commission that the services of the several representatives of Belgium, France, Germany, and Great Britain, who have contributed so largely to such results, be recognised in a special manner, and that the highest distinction at the disposal of the Commission be awarded to them. [N.B.—The intention of this recommendation is that such distinction should be "official," not "personal." to remain as a record of our Exhibition in the "Bureau d'Etat des Beaux-Arts" in France, in the corresponding departments of Belgium and Germany, and in the Colonial Office at London.]

The Australian Collection having been made under different circumstances, and being the result of private enterprise, we would further recommend that the prizes awarded in this Court be conferred on the understanding that they be transmitted to the artists, and not to the exhibitor; and that, at the same time the services of Mr. L. T. Neumann, in bringing together so valuable an exhibit, be also recognised by a distinctive award of high class.

Water Colour Pictures, Aquarelles, Miniatures.—European: The collection of water colour pictures is confined to the British and French Courts, numbering 116 in the former, and 8 in the latter. We have distinguished them as follows, viz.:—

Tapestry.—France: "The Earth," exhibited by the National Manufactory of "The Gobelins."—"Four Leaves of a Screen," exhibited by the National Manufactory of "Beauvois." We consider a report on these exhibits as coming under our province, although they are not directly referable to any of the nine classes of works of art submitted to us. Recognizing that no award of ours could add to the world-wide reputations of the distinctively national manufactories of the "Gobelins" and "Beauvois," we would express our warmest appreciation of the courtesy and thoughtfulness which influenced the French Government to grant an inspection of such grand specimens of the tapestry work of France to thousands of our citizens, who could not otherwise have expected to have known it but by name.

CLASS 406.

Paintings in Oil, on Canvas, Panels, &c.—Non-European.—We have paid close attention to the various exhibits scattered about in the different Courts of the Garden Palace, and in the N.W. Court of the Art Gallery, about 150 in number, but are constrained to express the opinion that, with the exception of the works by A. Collingridge, New South Wales; J. C. Richmond, New Zealand; W. C. Piguenit, Tasmania; P. Weber, United States; E. Von Guerard, Victoria; I. Whitehead, Victoria, hereafter distinctly mentioned, the collection is far below the standard which might have been expected; and some of the exhibitors have contributed on former occasions, to the Intercolonial Exhibitions in Sydney, superior examples of their work.

Landscape.—Tasmania: W. C. Piguenit, "South Esk River and Ben Lomond"—extra 1st, (No award if loan picture.) Victoria: Von E. Guerard, "Milford Sound, New Zealand"—extra 1st. New South Wales: A. Collingridge, "Ryde"—1st; New Zealand: J. C. Richmond, "Lake Rotorua"—1st. (No award if loan picture.) Tasmania: W. C. Piguenit, "Ben Lomond," "Blue Mountains, N.S.W.", "Huon River, Picnic Hotel"—1st. United States: P. Weber, "Grand Cross, Grand Manon Island, Canada"—1st. Victoria: Isaac Whitehead, "Milford, N.Z."—1st.

We consider it unnecessary to direct attention to more than the few other works enumerated below:—New Zealand: J. Gibb, "Godley Heads, Lyttelton;" L. Neville, "Lake Wanaka, N.Z." Tasmania: J. Moore, "Port Frederick." Victoria: J. R. Ashton, "A Chip of the Old Block;" W. Ford, "Effect of Light, near Eltham;" E. Hulm, "Evening Glow;" J. M. Nelson, "Valley of the Goulburn;" Henry Reilly, "The Murray at Corowa." Tasmania: Although non-competitive, we draw particular attention to the large oil painting, by Dowling, kindly contributed by the Mechanics' Institute, Launceston, "Aborigines of Tasmania." This work, apart from its artistic merit, possesses the special interest—rendering it, perhaps, unique—of pourtraying from life a group of the latest survivors of several tribes of a race which has since become entirely extinct.

Water Colour Pictures, Aquarelles, Miniatures.—Non-European: The remarks prefatory to the collection of oil paintings—non-European—must also, to a great extent, be applied to the general collection in this class. We specially distinguish, however, the exhibits by John Gully, New Zealand; Charles E. Hern and Mrs. Rowan, N.S.W.

New Zealand: J. Gully, "Winter Sunset, Lake Wakatipu"—extra 1st; J. Gully, "Teramaka Valley," "Lake Pearson," "Entrance to Otira Gorge," "Valley of the Cass," "Valley of the Wairarapa"—1st. New South Wales: C. E. Hern, "Govett's Leap Gorge"—extra 1st; C. E. Hern, "On the Dart"—1st; Mrs. Rowan, "Australian Flowers"—extra 1st. Also the undermentioned works:—New South Wales: Mrs. Paterson, "Australian Flowers and Butterflies;" Miss A. F. Walker, "Australian Flowers" (as botanical studies); E. B. Boulton, "Sunset, Aden;" E. Combes, C.M.G., "Ice" (a Langham sketch)." New Zealand: J. C. Hoyte, "Teremakau Valley;" L. Neville, "New Zealand Scenery." Victoria: J. Calvert, "Light in Shadow."

CLASS 407.—SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

We desire to rectify an omission in our report of this day's date. Amongst works to which attention was drawn should have been—J. W. Deering, group of water colours, marine subjects.

CLASS 409.

CORRECTIONS.

An award in the chemical class for writing ink, sealing wax, &c., was credited to Maurin, Toirsy, Paris. The same should have been Toirsy, Maurin, and Co. In the furniture class, New South Wales Court, the exhibit of R. Macdonald was placed in the second class, and commended for good sound workmanship. In classes 653 to 658, Mr. J. Cook was chairman of the judging committee, and not Mr. Struth.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

On 22nd April the second girder of the new bridge on the Parramatta River was hoisted into place by the new patent girder elevator. The weight of each girder is 64 tons, including all additional gear necessary for its transplacement. This second span of the new bridge was lifted bodily by two powerful engines and a seven-inch chain with seven folds, and towed over to the other side of the river, where it was put in place in less than half an hour. Mr. Rothwell, the engineer, conducted the whole affair admirably. The girders will be all placed in another three months; in six months the bridge will be completed, and in a year the Iron Cove Bridge will be finished, and a through communication between Sydney and the other side of the Parramatta River thus established.

The reconstruction of Pitt-street is proceeding as rapidly, perhaps, as circumstances will permit. Gangs of men are employed night and day on the section now being operated upon, between Hunter and King streets. A great delay is occasioned by having to alter the water supply mains. The reforming of the roadway necessitated the lowering of the old 9-inch supply main, which had been laid too near the surface. The operation of doing this disclosed the fact that the soil had greatly changed the nature of the iron, turning it into a substance similar to black lead in patches. It was therefore condemned by the City Engineer as likely at any moment to burst, and ruin the newly-made road; and steps were immediately taken to transfer the service pipes of the premises along the line on to the new 12-inch main, laid about a year ago. It is expected that Pitt-street will be widened 10 feet near the Post Office, as owners of adjoining properties have consented to give the necessary ground if the Government take back the new buildings in connection with the Post Office to an equal depth.

A deputation from the Agricultural Society has waited upon the Colonial Treasurer, to request the Government to agree to lease to a prospective company land upon Glebe Island, near deep water, for the purpose of erecting a building for freezing and storing meat, preparatory to its being shipped for export. It was stated that a Melbourne company would co-operate with Sydney in this matter, by subscribing £50,000, and that they were agreeable that Sydney should be the centre of the meat export trade. It was also explained that there were strong evidences of the Orient Steamship Company co-operating with Sydney and Melbourne in the matter; and it was held that everything possible should be accomplished here to meet them, and to initiate this new industry, which would develop to an importance equal with that of the wool trade of the colonies. Mr. Watson said that the movement had his most cordial sympathy. The application for the lease, however, he could not grant at once, but he would lay it before his colleagues, and forward their decision—which he hoped to be a favourable one—to the committee.

In answer to a deputation which waited upon him the other day, the Hon. J. Lackey, Minister for Works, said the Government intended to construct the tramways at as early a date as possible, and, if practicable, all the lines simultaneously. The Government had no doubt but that they would receive a handsome return for the outlay.

The works in connection with the completion of the General Post Office are being carried on vigorously. The excavation is almost completed, and the necessary scaffolding is nearly finished.

CIVIC AND SANITARY.

At the last fortnightly meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council, Alderman Davies read a letter from Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., to the effect that he thought he could arrange for Pitt-street, near the Post-office to be widened by ten feet for 150 feet, if the Government would keep the present alignment of the Post Office back for ten feet also. It was resolved to wait upon the Colonial Secretary to ascertain if the Government were willing to keep the Post Office back to the extent indicated. The Mayor reported that the whole of the Cattle Saleyard Debentures had been taken up at 102, the minimum price. The Town Clerk read a report showing the indebtedness, the liability, the amount due on outstanding rates and other claims, the probable revenue for 1880, and the probable expenditure, exclusive of general city improvements, for 1880, to be as follow:—Dr.—To amount due on contracts, £15,507; lighting the city, £8030; cleansing the city, £21,000; law expenses, £400; office expenses (half), £900 incidental, £200; salaries of officers (proportion), £6614; interest, £7800; debentures (Prince Alfred Park paid), £12,000; debentures (falling due), £25,000; total, £97,451; balance for works, £50,952 3s. 5d.; grand total, £148,493 3s. 5d. Cr.—By balance at bank, £577 19s. 8d.; outstanding rates (city, £649 18s.; paving, £213 19s. 4d.)—£863 17s. 4d.; city rate, £101,770 17s.; watering-street rate, 1879, £4574 7s.; markets, £10,071 9s. 4d.; wharfs, £1778; baths, £73; auctioneers' licenses, £1000; fees, fines, and licenses, £780; Randwick tolls, £653 13s.; land at Haymarket, £450; stores, at ditto, £150; total, £123,403 3s. 5d.; renewal of debentures, £25,000; grand total, £148,403 3s. 5d. At a special meeting of the City Council held subsequently the following report from the Town Clerk was read:—"I have the honour to submit a return showing properties liable to be rated for sewerage purposes. The assessed value of these properties is £1,096,188. The rate necessary to levy to raise the amount to which the Council are pledged to the Union Bank—£9000—is 2d. in the £. There is, however, a further overdraft at the bank of £1516 on sewerage account, with an average weekly expenditure of £65. On the 1st of July the sum of £6500 will be required to meet the payment of interest, so that to meet all liabilities up to that date a sewerage rate of at least 4d. in the £ will be required." Alderman Moore moved that the rate be fixed at 6d. Alderman Playfair moved, as an amendment, that it be 4d. After a brief discussion, the amendment was negatived, whereupon Alderman Moore's motion was affirmed by a large majority. The Finance Committee at a recent meeting decided to recommend the Council to authorise an expenditure of £5892 18s. 2d. for completing the water supplying systems of Woollahra and a portion of Paddington; after which they discussed the question of converting the Exhibition Building in Prince Alfred Park into a meat market. A point was raised as to whether the Council had power to convert the building into a meat market, as the Municipal Act said in effect that it was intended for the purposes of exhibitions, recreation, or instruction; and this point has been referred to the City Solicitor. The building cost £25,000, and up to within last year was used by the Agricultural Association for their annual exhibitions. When the International Exhibition was about to be opened, the Association, believing that they would not require the building in Prince Albert Park any more, induced the City Council to cancel their lease of it; since which time it has been a kind of white elephant on the Council's hands lying unoccupied and unremunerative. It is desirable that it should be utilized in some manner in order that it may pay interest on its cost, and converting it into meat and general produce markets would in the estimation of many persons be a means of this being done. At a subsequent meeting of the committee the Mayor drew attention to part 3 of the new Licensing Bill introduced by the Government which provided for fees from auctioneers' licenses to go to the consolidated revenue. The Government he said proposed to take away what they had given in the present Municipalities Act, and deprive the Council of an expected revenue of £2000. Alderman O'Connor as representative of the city said that when the House went into committe on the bill, he would move that the clause be struck out. A letter was read from the City Solicitor, giving it as his opinion that the Council could not legally devote the building in Prince Alfred Park for the purpose of a market. A long discussion ensued, and a resolution moved by Alderman Carter,—"That application be made to the Government to bring in a bill to enable the Council to let the building for the purposes of a market"—was carried by a majority of one, those aldermen who voted against the motion stating that, while they were in favour of establishing a meat market, they objected to the Park being encroached upon.

Some of the aldermen's minds are exercised with regard to the weight of a bell which has been placed in the tower of the Town Hall. They think it too heavy for the tower, and are apprehensive of danger to the building should it be set ringing with any force. So it has been decided to have a report from professional men on the subject, and thus after it has cost a large sum of money to place it where it hangs at present, it may become necessary to take the bell down again.

The aldermen, as a body, have been agitated in their minds with regard to the costumes they ought to wear at public ceremonies. Some are in favour of uniforms and others of evening dress. One of the former has complained that the aldermen presented a very piebald appearance when H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh visited Sydney, and he maintained that this sort of thing ought not to be repeated, for there was no knowing but that Sydney might be again favoured with the presence of royalty if H.R.H. the Prince of Wales visited the Victorian Exhibition. When Alderman C. J. Roberts, the ex-Mayor, gave a fancy dress ball to the citizens, about eighteen months ago, a majority of the aldermen resolved, out of compliment to him, to attend it in uniform. The result was not happy from an artistic point of view. The pattern adopted for the uniforms was neither original nor graceful. It was a combination suggestive of last century, and borrowed evidently from the uniform represented in Mr. Woolner's admirable statue of Captain Cook in Hyde Park here, and that worn by Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B. A person meeting an alderman wearing it would be almost sure to look around for Josephine. It is rarely seen now, and indeed it should not have appeared in public after the ball. The aldermen have now hit upon the sensible expedient of appearing in evening dress at public ceremonials, and have decided to wear lace neckties in conjunction with the same as badges of the high offices they hold. The Mayor will retain his present costume—a purple silk robe edged with ermine, and a three-cornered hat.

It is now rumoured that a division of opinion exists in the Cabinet with regard to the proposal of Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., to widen Pitt-street in the vicinity of the Post Office, and that the proposal is opposed by some of the leading Government officials.

Winter is approaching fast and cool breezes are blowing, but the transition from autumnal warmth to cold weather which we are now experiencing has not had any injurious effect upon the general health.

ALLEGED CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.

In a letter recently published in the Illawarra Mercury from Mr. George Osburne, that gentleman thus describes an alleged cure for diphtheria:—"Mr. John Newson, bricklayer, in my employ at the Public school buildings, Charcoal, a few weeks since lost his eldest child owing to diphtheria. Another child in the same family became seriously affected, and, although under skilful treatment, the disease had spread so rapidly that no hope was entertained for its recovery. A few days ago, while the father of the child was slacking lime in my presence, he was describing to me the suffering his poor child had to endure, especially while brushing the throat; and a suggestion accidentally occurred to me that, if it were possible to have the patient held over the steam ascending from the lime while under the process of slacking, probably good results might be produced. The father, anxious to do anything to save the child's life, adopted the suggestion, and took a lump of the unslacked stone lime to his residence, put it into a basin, slacked it in the bedroom with boiling water, and held the child over the steam to inhale as much as possible, until it got into a state of perspiration, after which, when it felt thirsty, he gave it a drink of limewater. It immediately discharged from the mouth a quantity of matter obstructing the throat, and in a few hours partook of a hearty meal and slept well during the night, and has now quite recovered. No doubt the medical profession will pooh-pooh such an idea, and attribute the recovery to some other cause. Be that as it may, here is a case in point, that all the argument or language in the English tongue will not convince your humble servant or the parents of this child that any other remedy than that above stated saved its life."

A correspondent sends to us a cure for diphtheria, which was discovered by Dr. Field some years ago, and which it is claimed has never failed. It consists simply of flour of brimstone mixed with water in the proportion of one teaspoonful of the sulphur to a wine glass of water, the mixture being used as a gargle. In cases where the patient cannot gargle, it is recommended that the sulphur should be thrown on a live coal and the fumes inhaled, the effect being as certain though not so speedy as in the other case.

RELIGIOUS.

A new Anglican church was opened at Tumut on the 19th April by Bishop Thomas.

On the 27th April, Bishop Barker opened St. John's Church, at Colo. Two hundred persons were present, including several visitors from Sydney and Windsor. The church is a neat wooden structure, capable of seating 120 worshippers. A collection was made, reducing the debt to £15.

A new Episcopalian church was opened on the 27th April, by Canon Moreton, of Sydney, at Brewongle. Several addresses were delivered, and a collection was made amounting to £57.

The foundation-stone of a parsonage at St. John's, Ashfield, was laid by the Bishop of Sydney on the 24th April. The cost of the building will be about £1750, of which about £550 is promised.

A large and influential meeting of the members of the Church of England was held on the 6th May, to consider the best mode of relieving the great financial difficulties under which the work of the Church Society for the diocese of Sydney is at present being carried on. The Bishop of Sydney presided, and in his opening remarks informed the meeting that while the income of the society, so far from decreasing, is slowly increasing year by year, the work to be sustained by that income has rapidly developed, and applications for aid increased out of proportion to the enlarged income. Resolutions were unanimously carried recommending the appointment of an organising clerical secretary, to canvass for the Loan Fund.

On Sunday evening, May 2, a meeting was held in St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, in aid of the New Cathedral Building Fund. The attendance was very large, the building being completely filled. Archbishop Vaughan delivered an interesting address, in which he said he hoped a temporary roof would soon be placed on the new building, so that they could worship within its walls. The total sum received by the treasurers during the evening was £362 4s. 11d.

On the 26th April, Archbishop Vaughan opened St. James's School, Forest Lodge. In the course of his address he referred to the liberality of the people of the parish who, besides raising large sums of money to pay off a debt on the church, had paid £1000 of the £2000 which the school building had cost, besides having given a large amount of labour in the construction of the building.

On the 22nd April, the Rev. James Sheridan, on the eve of his removal to the R. C. mission at Camden, received an address and testimonial from the parishioners of St. Mary's and the Christian Doctrine Association.

The foundation stone of a Primitive Methodist church at Lithgow was lately laid by Mr. E. Burns, J.P. The Rev. Messrs. Ashmead and Penman delivered addresses on the occasion.

The first church at Copeland was opened on May 2, and the dedication service was preached by the Rev. W. H. Rogers, Wesleyan minister of Dungog.

The third anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. J. Jefferis, LL.B., of the Pitt-street Congregational Church, was celebrated on the 27th instant, and the various agencies and finances of the church were reported to be in a flourishing condition. There were 74 teachers and 959 scholars in the various schools connected with the church.

The annual meeting of the Redfern Auxiliary of the London Missionary Society was lately held in the Congregational Church, under the presidency of the Rev. Mr. Slatyer. It appeared that about £137 had been raised during the year towards the funds of the society.

The Rev. J. Grimm has received a call to the Presbyterian Church at West Balmain.

The Rev. Luke Parr has resigned his connection with the Wesleyan Church.

The Rev. Dr. Roseby, Congregational minister of Dunedin, has been on a visit to Sydney, and received a hearty welcome from his old friends in this city, where he formerly resided.

Gospel Services continue to be held in a tent in the city with the view of benefiting those who do not attend the ordinary places of worship. They have been under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association, the general secretary, and committee having arranged for the necessary preachers, including ministers of various denominations. The congregations have been good, and the results encouraging.

THE WEATHER, AGRICULTURAL, AND PASTORAL.

May, which it may be said in this colony is the last month of autumn, was ushered in with fine cool weather, which proved most agreeable to those who required some change from the high temperatures of summer. In some districts frosts have appeared, and in the southern half of the colony during the first week light showers fell. Generally the last month proved favourable to those who wished to place their land under wheat, and taken throughout the soil of the principal farming districts is in excellent condition. There has been rather too much rain along the northern coast, especially in the Richmond district. The maize crops have suffered to some extent; but that cereal is now so low in price that farmers do not particularly care to harvest it. When maize brings only 2s. 6d. per bushel in this city, the returns which reach the producers, freight, commission, and other charges being deducted, are far from satisfactory. The principal maize-yielding districts of the North, fortunately, are well supplemented by their crops of sugar, and the sugar industry is extending rapidly. The Richmond and the Tweed will soon swell the annual returns of sugar, and a more profitable crop than that of sugar-cane is not known to Australian agriculturists. Sheep-farming is still holding its own, and young sheep are in strong demand, but the business of cattle-breeding is still dull. The resuscitation of the Ramornie Meat-preserving Works, on the Clarence, is affording some relief, and we learn that about 50 head of cattle per day are being canned, the price paid for the cattle being at the rate of from 8s. to 12s. per 100 lbs. in the carcase. Meat, in the wholesale markets of the metropolis, sells at about 1d. per lb., the supply being far in excess of the demand. The pastoral country is in good condition, and stock are fairly free from disease. Fluke, worms, and pleuro exist in Carcoar and Glen Innes. There are a few beasts affected by pleuro at Hay, and black-leg has appeared in Port Macquarie. Otherwise all is well, and, so far as the pastoral interests are concerned, there are no difficulties which a steady export trade of meat could not remove.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Little of interest with regard to music has transpired since our last summary. Madame Carlotta Patti, Mr. DeMunck, and Signor Ciampi Cellaj are in Melbourne, delighting the Victorians and making money. Olga Duboin, the Russian pianiste, who penetrates to the most out of the way places to astonish people with playing, such as the majority of them never heard before, has, after a tour up north, returned to Brisbane. Camilla Urso, the violinist, is doing New Zealand very profitably to herself. Mons. Jules Meilhan, a pianist and musician of exceptional merit, is going to leave Sydney for Adelaide. Mr. Henri Ketten, the well-known pianist, will give a series of concerts here in a few weeks, and they are being anticipated with interest. Dramatic business is good. At the Theatre Royal, Lyster and Garner's Comedy Company are playing to capital business; and at the Victoria Theatre, "The New Babylon" has been brought out by Mr. Bland Holt, son of Mr. Clarence Holt. It is likely to have a long run; as is also Mr. Charles Reade's drama "Drink," produced at the Queen's Theatre by Mr. Alfred Dampier. The Lingards have closed their season at Kelly and Leon's Opera House, and a Variety Company, in which the star is perhaps Mr. W. Reynolds, has succeeded them.

ACCIDENTS AND OFFENCES.

James Poulson was sentenced to death, at the Bathurst Circuit Court, on the 1st May, for the murder of his daughter Mary Poulson, at Wattle Flat, in March last. The facts showed that the prisoner was usually a sober and industrious man, but that while under the influence of drink, he killed his daughter with an adze; and also killed his son, a boy 9 years old.

A young man named John O'Brien was accidentally killed at the Redfern Railway Terminus, on Saturday afternoon, May 1. He was wandering about the railway yard, and a shunting engine which happened to be passing knocked him down and ran over him, inflicting injuries of so serious a character that he expired almost immediately afterwards.

An extensive fire occurred at an early hour on the morning of the 6th instant, in a block of buildings situated at the foot of Liverpool-street, near the head of Darling Harbour. The buildings destroyed comprise the whole of the extensive range occupied by Messrs. Salisbury and Co., the timber yard and limekiln of Mr. J. Rawlings, and the premises occupied by Mr. George Brown, timber merchant. Messrs. F. Salisbury and Co. were insured for £4800, but Messrs. Rawlings and Brown were uninsured, and the loss will fall heavily upon them.

On Sunday evening, May 9, a raid was made on a Chinese gambling house in Goulburn-street at 8 o'clock. At the doorway the inspector was met by a Chinese janitor, whose duty it was to obtain sixpence each from all who entered the miserable and dingy looking den, known as the bank. This individual endeavoured to prevent the entry of the police, but the inspector pushed past and reached the passage, when the doorkeeper endeavoured to cry out and give the alarm. Inspector Rush was, however, equal to the occasion and, catching the fellow by the throat, he placed his hand over his mouth, and prevented the ejaculation. The Chinaman then ran away and closed the door (which opens from the outside) behind him, leaving the inspector in the dark passage. He had evidently not reckoned upon assistance being at hand; he was speedily arrested, and, the door being again opened, with their captive the constables marched into the room beyond. At a table in this apartment were discovered no less than thirty-seven Chinamen, playing the game known as "fantan" with remarkable vigour, but evidently with less than the excitability characteristic of their European comrades in iniquity. The entrance of the constables completely confused those about the table for a little while, and it was some time before they had recovered sufficient nerve to offer any resistance. This, however, they did determinedly when they came to themselves, and in spite of the inspector's explanation of his mission, and his showing to those capable of understanding it the warrant for his proceedings, considerable delay and disturbance occurred before the arrests could be completed. When these were all effected, amid much excitement, and through chattering congregations of their more fortunate brethren, the Chinese gamblers were conveyed to the station-house and searched; the inspector also taking with him all the money, Chinese coins, books, counters, black and white beads, cards, dominoes, and fan-tan paraphernalia found about the premises. A considerable sum of money was found on the gamblers.

TRADE AND LABOUR MOVEMENTS.

An anti-Chinese agitation has been going on among the working classes in Sydney for some time past, and there appears to be a determination to insist, at the next general election, that candidates shall pledge themselves to support some measure to restrain the influx of Chinese immigrants. A largely attended public meeting was held in Sydney on 25th ultimo, when it was unanimously resolved,—1. "That in the opinion of this meeting the influx of Chinese to this colony is entirely opposed to the best interests of the colony, morally, socially, and politically." 2. "That this meeting pledges itself to support only those candidates for the Legislative Assembly at the next election, who will pledge themselves to support any measure in Parliament for the total prohibition of Chinese into this colony." It was also decided to form an Anti-Chinese League. At a public meeting held on the 5th instant, under the auspices of the newly-formed league, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—"1. That we, the citizens of Sydney, do hereby emphatically express our opinion of hostility and aversion at being associated with the Chinese race as colonists or otherwise, and aver the same upon every conceivable reason justifiable by every law of God or man. 2. That a memorial embodying the same be presented to the collective members of the Executive Council by a deputation deputed by this meeting for the same." At a meeting of the Trades and Labour Council on the 29th ultimo, the same subject was discussed, and it was clearly indicated that the Council was prepared to assist the league in the efforts to resist the influx of Chinese immigrants.

LABOUR SUMMARY.

The following are the prices paid for labour in some of the principal trades of the colony. In compiling the list regard has been had, in setting down the minimum and maximum, to the circumstance that the earnings of some men of more than average competency are something in excess of the maximum, and that others taking up certain classes of work for which they are not specially fitted, earn less than the minimum. In each of those cases the earnings are exceptional, and it has been ascertained that the rates given below are those paid as a rule:—

Printing Trade.—Compositors, on newspapers, 1s. to 1s. 1d. per 1000; bookwork 1s. per 1000; jobbing, £2 10s. to £3 per week.

Building Trades.—All labour is paid by the day of eight hours. Carpenters, 9s. to 11s.; stonemasons, 10s. to 11s.; stonemasons' labourers, 7s. to 8s.; plasterers, 11s. to 12s.; plasterers' labourers, 7s. to 9s.; bricklayers, 10s. to 12s.; bricklayers' labourers, 7s. to 9s.; painters, 9s. to 10s.; joiners, 10s. to 11s.; plumbers, 8s. to 10s.; gasfitters, 8s. to 11s.; sawmill hands, 9d. to 1s. The supply of labour has more than kept pace with the demand, and is more than ample at the present time.

Iron Trades.—The following rates are paid by the hour, the men working eight hours a-day, with two breaks in summer and one in winter. Ironturners, 1s. to 1s. 5½d.; engine-fitters, 11d. to 1s. 4d.; shipsmiths, 1s. to 1s. 6d.; blacksmiths, 1s. to 1s. 4d.; blacksmiths' strikers, 8d. to 9½d.; ironmoulders, 1s. to 1s. 3d.; pattern-makers, 1s. to 1s. 3d.; boilermakers, 1s. to 1s. 4d.; boilermakers' assistants, 8d. to 9d.; general labourers in ironworks, 7½d. to 10d.; engine-drivers, 9½d. to 10d.; furnacemen, 10d. to 1s. 1d.; dressers, 8½d. to 11d.; machinemen in fitting shop, 10d. to 1s. 2d. Country blacksmiths receive from £75 to £80 per annum, with rations or board.

Brass and Copper Trades.—At per hour, the men working eight hours a day, with two breaks in summer and one in winter. Brass-finishers, 11d. to 1s. 3d.; brass moulders, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d.; coppersmiths, 1s. 1d. to 1s 3d. The supply of labour in these trades is fully equal to the demand, and the market is slightly over-stocked.

Brickmakers, £1 2s. 6d. to £1 5s. per thousand; pipemakers, £2 10s. per week; potters, £2 10s. ditto.

Carriage builders, 10d. to 1s. 6d. per hour; waggon builders, 1s. to 1s. 3d. ditto; carriage painters, 10d. to 1s. 3d. ditto; wheelwrights (country), £3 10s. per week.

Shipwrights, 9s. to 12s. a day of eight hours; sawyers in mill, 9d. to 1s. 3d. per hour.

Tailors (paid by the piece) can earn about £2 10s. to £3 10s. per week, thoroughly efficient and skilled workmen can earn as much as £4, and in some establishments £4 10s.; shoemakers earn on an average from £1 15s. to £2 10s. per week; saddlers, £2 to £2 10s. per week, exceptionally good hands, £3 per week.

Tinsmiths, who work by the piece and by the day, and, in different establishments, from 8 to 10 hours, can earn from £2 2s. to £3 3s. per week.

Coopers.—Those who work by the day are paid at the rate of from 8s. to 10s. per day. By the piece the rate is as follows:—For wine casks, £1 2s. 6d. per tun; oil casks, £1 ditto; tierces, 3s. each for old, 2s. 6d. for new; hogsheads, 6s. ditto; ten-gallon kegs, 2s. 9d. ditto; five-gallon ditto, 2s. to 2s. 3d. ditto; two-gallon ditto, 1s. 6d. ditto; tallow casks, 13s. 6d. to 15s. per tun.

Domestic Servants.—Cooks in private houses, £30 to £65 per annum; cooks in hotels, £45 to £75 ditto; laundresses, £32 to £45 ditto; house and parlour maids, £26 to £35 ditto; general servants, £26 to £45; nursemaids, £20 to £35; grooms and coachmen, £45 to £65; gardeners, £52 to £65. Thoroughly competent women servants are scarce, and hardly to be obtained even at higher prices than those quoted.

Station Hands.—Including rations or board: Married couples, £50 to £75 per annum; farm labourers, £30 to £45 ditto; bullock drivers, £40 to £52 ditto; horse-team drivers, £40 to £65 ditto; boundary riders, £40 to £52 ditto; stockmen, £40 to £75 ditto; shepherds, £35 to £40 ditto; roadmakers, £52 to £65 ditto; gardeners, £40 to £52 ditto; useful boys, £16 to £30 ditto.

Lumpers and Wharf Labourers.—Day work for handling general cargo, 1s. per hour; ditto for handling coal, 1s. 3d. per hour; night work, paid 6d. per hour.

Corporation Labourers.—Working by hour, 8½d.; by week of 58 hours, £2 1s. 1d.; skilled labourers, 7s. to 8s. per day; carters (finding horse and cart) 1s. 2d. per hour.

The demand for domestic servants of the better class is still maintained, and female domestic servants of the ordinary class readily meet with engagement. In the metal trades—iron and brass founding and fitting—the labour available is in excess of present requirements. In the building and iron trades there is still some degree of depression which leaves a considerable number of unemployed hands. In most trades wages are fluctuating, and there is a disposition in some cases to accept rates lower than those above stated. There is also more unskilled labour available than can be employed, particularly among wharf and general labourers.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

When our last summary left, the great subject of interest in mining matters was the dispute between the Associated Colliery masters and the miners. On Monday, April 26, a large meeting of miners was held at Wallsend; and the following resolutions were carried unanimously:—

1. "That, in the opinion of this meeting, we very much regret that we cannot accept the offer made by the masters, as we consider in being reduced the reduction ought to have been according to the sliding scale under which we have been working for the last seven years."

2. "Seeing that we have offered to submit the whole case to arbitration, and have been refused this right, we pledge ourselves not to work until the conditions asked for by us are granted, unless the case be submitted to arbitration and the award given against us."

3. "That this meeting considers the reduction of 20 per cent. is unwarranted, and they ask the co-operation and support of all the collieries in the trade to assist us in our struggle."

4. "That, in the opinion of this meeting, any lodge in the district, whether non-associated or associated, that can get the price we are asking for—namely, the rates of the old sliding scale—be allowed to work."

It will thus be seen that the miners belonging to the Associated Collieries have entered upon a strike; the non-associated colliery miners have not been consulted, and they have continued at work at the old rate of 4s. 6d. per ton; although the price of coal was reduced from 14s. to 10s. The effect of the strike has had a considerable effect upon the market, and the price has once more been raised to 14s.; and one large Melbourne buyer is reported to have offered to take 5000 tons at this price; but owing to the number of orders on hand, the quantity could not be guaranteed. It is believed that work will be resumed in the Associated Collieries shortly, as it is understood that the masters are willing to give 4s. 6d. a ton for hewing, while the price remains at anything over 12s.

In gold-mining a good find is reported by telegraph from Copeland North as having been struck in the Caledonian Gold-mining Company's mine, Mechanics' Reef, good gold having been struck. A find has also been reported from Wantabadgery, in the Southern district, and a slight rush took place; but subsequent results have not shown that there was any justification for it. Generally, gold-mining is in a quiet state, though some good work is being done in various parts of the colony.

The men at Ferndale colliery resumed work on May 7, under arrangement with Mr. Thomas Bevan, who is the contractor for the working of that colliery under an agreement made with the former owners, which does not expire before June next. Mr. Bevan overrides the present owners' position by virtue of his contract, and has decided to work the colliery irrespective of any association.

INTERCOLONIAL.

QUEENSLAND.

The Government have called for tenders for the construction of the seventh section of the Western railway, from Roma to near Mitchell, a distance of fifty miles; also, third section of the Townsville to Charters Towers line, a distance of fifteen miles; and the fifth section of the Central line, a distance of thirty miles.—Hasland and Co.'s store, at Gilberton, was broken into, and an iron safe was stolen containing gold, notes, and documents, worth over £700. Tracks of bare feet, supposed to be those of Chinamen, were traced from the store to the river and there lost; the stolen safe weighed nearly 300 lbs.—With reference to the through mail service from London to Brisbane via the Suez Canal and Torres Straits, the agents of the Eastern and Australian Company refused the subsidy of £35,000, unless the owers are allowed to go on to Sydney. The Premier then called for tenders in London, and the British India Co. offered a four weekly through first-class mail service from London to Brisbane, calling at Naples; the minimum speed to be 220 knots daily, and if the Government are importing immigrants, then the company will carry 200 in each ship at £16 per head. The subsidy asked is £55,000 per annum for seven years, and Brisbane to be the terminus. The Government intend to recommend Parliament to accept the offer.—A new discovery of gold-slate formation is reported in the vicinity of Kilkivan. Prospectors have pegged off the reef. The outcrop shows good surface prospects; some that was washed yielded 3 pennyweights to the dish. Rich specimens were also procured from the reef.—A petition is to be presented to his Excellency the Acting-Governor, asking him to represent to the Humane Society the brave conduct of Captain Maund and the crew of the Southport, at Easter, in rescuing two men who were being carried out to sea through the boat-passage by the tide.—The Rev. Thomas Hume, of Mackay, was elected Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.—The differences lately existing amongst members of the Presbyterian General Assembly, in consequence of the newspaper correspondence of last year, are now satisfactorily adjusted, the members concerned having apologized, and withdrawn the objectionable expressions which they used.—The sub-collector of Customs at Gladstone reports that payable gold has been found at Mount Larcom scrub, ten miles from the head station. During his visit some prospectors washed half a pennyweight of very good gold to the dish from three holes. The ground is shallow, and no gold was found at either end of the prospectors' claim.—The scrub is very dense. The country appears auriferous, but it is thought unadvisable that more men should go until the workings are developed.

VICTORIA.

A remarkable meteor was seen in broad daylight at Bairnsdale. It broke and scattered into a thousand atoms along the West Coast.—The Customs returns for 1879 show that the total imports amounted to £15,000,000 sterling, showing a decrease of over £1,000,000. The exports amounted to £12,000,000, showing a falling-off of nearly £2,500,000. The total revenue received at the Customs amounted to £1,506,819, or a decrease of £60,500, notwithstanding the increased taxation imposed.—The Juvenile Exhibition promoters will distribute 500 medals, besides 1700 certificates and 255 special prizes.—The Minister of Lands has reported to his colleagues that an amending Land Bill is necessary, as that introduced by Mr. Longmore is so faulty that he is unable to bring it into general operation.—At the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Mr. John Bain, the retiring president, delivered an address. He congratulated the Chamber on the more hopeful prospects now presenting themselves in trade. The clip of wool had been in excess of the previous year, principally from Riverina, showing that the loss of trade is not so great as was anticipated. Reference was made to the mail service, and regret was expressed that the Californian steamers had not made their terminus in Melbourne.—The unemployed continue to grumble, and complain that only stonebreaking should be given them, as they say they cannot earn enough money at it, and they propose to adopt a memorial to Parliament on the subject.—James Gatehouse, the ex-Mayor of Melbourne, was defendant in an action at the Geelong County Court for damages arising out of the rowdyism at Queenscliff on the 10th January last; defendant and others appear to have treated Locke, the plaintiff, who is an inoffensive farmer, in a shameful manner. Locke was awarded £50 damages and costs; he said that he had never recovered from the ill-usage he had received—The Government have given instructions for the prosecution of Alderman Gatehouse, his son, and Messrs. Butler and Moodie for burning the trigonometrical survey position at Mount Macedon a short time ago.—Mr. Graham Berry has ceased to be connected with the Geelong Advertiser, the partnership between Mr. Douglass and Mr. Berry having been dissolved by mutual consent. The paper will now be conducted solely by Mr. Alfred Douglass.—Two busts, executed in the purest Carara marble by the late Charles Summers and his son, have been presented to the trustees of the National Gallery by Mr. T. B. Payne, and have been placed in the room set apart for the exhibition of original works of statuary.—About £2000 was realized by the fancy fair in aid of Trinity College.—The Hon. W. J. Clarke has given his assistance towards Dalley's scheme for sending home a team of champion ploughmen. Some champion matches, with prizes of £50, are to be held, and the team will be selected from the best competitors.—At the half-yearly meeting of the National Bank a dividend at the rate of 12½ per cent. was declared. The chairman referred to the depression which had existed not only in this but in all the other colonies, for the past six months, and said that it seemed to have temporarily passed away, and now, instead of a deficiency, there was an abundance of resources, which, however, was not an unmixed benefit for banking institutions.—The commemoration of the Raikes Centenary is to be held from the 27th June to the 4th July, and will take the form of special services, with conferences, concerts, public meetings, and flower services. A bronze statue of Robert Raikes is to be purchased, and placed in the public library.—A deputation, representing the farming population, waited on Mr. Service, and asked whether the Government were prepared to place an additional duty on imported feeding grain to the extent of 2s. per cental. It was pointed out that at present prices the farmers could not compete with New Zealand. Mr. Service said they were asking relief in a wrong direction. He expressed an opinion that the whole system of protection must break down, and he could see clearly the folly of trusting to artificial means to maintain high prices; he could not give them the slightest encouragement.—At a meeting of the Frozen Meat Export Company to-day, Sir James M'Culloch, who presided, stated that the capital was not being taken up so rapidly as was expected, but that £50,000 had been subscribed.—The amount received for the Victorian Barry testimonial is over £1000, and more is expected.—Sir Redmond Barry and Dr. Brownless are re-elected as Chancellor and Vice-Chancellor of the University respectively. A fearful accident occurred at Talbot on May 9. Mr. John Richardson, a well-known resident, was stepping on to the train, when he lost his footing, and was carried along for a mile and a half, and literally torn to pieces.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

At the Gumeracha election the following numbers were polled:—John Rounsevell, 157; Dr. Joyce, 119; S. Tomkinson, 112.—Mr. Burnett's temperance crusade was inaugurated by a public meeting at the Town Hall on April 24. There was a crowded attendance. The Chief Justice presided, and cordially welcomed Mr. Burnett, while Mr. Vardon did the same on behalf of the Temperance Organization.—The Bishop in his pastoral address stated modes of procedure of communicants may be against clergymen preaching false doctrine or practising illegal ceremonials. As to ritual vestments, furniture, &c., the decisions of the Ecclesiastical Courts and Privy Council were binding in the diocese. Respecting secular education he says our State education is atheistic and not Christian. He praises the Roman Catholics for not severing the religious from elementary and secular education; and says that the other portion of the Christian community, although glorying in their Puritan descent and allegiance to the inspired word of God, were nevertheless in a state of inaction. He thinks that State education has a right to include Bible history and gospel truth, which all Christians hold in common.—Mr. E. A. Leonard, who has been on a visit to the country about Eucla, on the western boundary of the colony, where the diamond-drill has been boring for water, speaks very discouragingly of the prospects for pastoral purposes, unless very great concessions are made to lessees. The great drawback is want of water, and his inquiries show that there is little probability of finding Artesian wells. The progress made by the boring apparatus, which he thinks unsuitable, will be very slow, and it will be probably two years before the first bore is down 600 feet; the chance of getting water for pastoral uses at extreme depths is too remote to meet with much encouragement.—The total deposits of all the banks for the quarter ending March 31 amounts to £3,007,000, being half a million in excess of the previous quarter. This indicates that less money was available during the past quarter than during the corresponding period of 1879, notwithstanding that a portion of the last loan has reached the colony and been deposited in the banks.—The University Council has adopted a by-law to carry out the wishes of the Secretary of State, and enable letters patent to be obtained; it also provides for the admission of women to degrees. It has been forwarded to Government, with a request that the Government will procure an enactment as soon as possible.—The deepening returns furnished to the Marine Board show that the expenditure for repairs on the dredger Willunga made her work very costly. The average price per cubic yard, taking from the shore to the sea, was sometimes more than the landing of it on the wharf from dredger No. 2 by means of pontoons.—The Government have no present intention of reducing the postal rate below 8d. They are paying on letters from the colony 21½d. per ounce, including 17d. to Victoria, and 4½d. for European transit rates. On letters to the colony they are paying 17d. per oz., and only receive from the Home Government 7½d. To reduce the rates from 8d. to 6d. would entail a present at the rate of £2000 a year, and that would be increased in amount as the correspondence increased. The Orient steamers carry about half the mails, the Plymouth rate by them being 6d. Further representations are to be made to Victoria to reduce the subsidy per ounce, the effect of which would probably be to increase the South Australian payment to her as the postal rate per P and O. steamers would then be reduced to 6d.—The Agricultural Society have decided to request the Orient and P. and O. Companies to prepare special compartments in their vessels for the reception of shipments of fruit intended for the English markets.—It is authoritatively alleged that the amount of wheat in the farmers' hands has been greatly under estimated, and that in the districts north-east of Jamestown immense quantities are being held by the farmers for better prices.—A number of cuttings of the Smyrna fig, direct from Smyrna, have been forwarded to the colony by the Hon. Arthur Blyth, and have been handed to Dr. Schomburgk to propagate.

TASMANIA.

Sergeant Sleigh has been elected for Deloraine.—A severe gale occurred on April 25, when two vessels were wrecked, and news had been received of heavy floods in the country. The schooner Robert Burns was wrecked on the East Coast, and the whaler Osprey at Recherche Bay.

NEW ZEALAND.

Three men, convicted of swindling by means of the totalizator, were each sentenced to one month's hard labour. The offence took place on the Ellerslie racecourse.—His Excellency the Governor, in opening the Normal school, said that the New Zealand system of State education was the most comprehensive and ambitious of any country in the world. There were two defects, however, namely, the absence of fees or rates, and the non-use of the Bible. He feared the colony was unable to bear the total cost of the system without assistance from local sources, and that the course of instruction failed to inculcate moral obligations.—The trial of Robert Butler for the murder of James M. Dewar, one of the victims of the Canterbury-street murders at Dunedin, was concluded on the 17th April, shortly after 9 p.m., when a verdict of not guilty was returned. The prisoner's speech occupied about five hours in delivery, and the evidence was criticised in detail by him.—An attempt was made to burn down the Napier municipal buildings; the rate-collector confessed that he caused the fire, in order to destroy the books, to hide his defalcations.

NEW CALEDONIA.

His Excellency the Governor returned to Noumea on the 27th April, having visited various districts on the western coast of the island.

An extraordinary decision affecting shipowners has been given by the Superior Court of Noumea, which is thus referred to by Mr. R. G. Punch, the master of the Sarah Dreyfus:—"The Sarah Dreyfus was chartered in Adelaide by the firm of Messrs. William Morgan and Co. to carry a cargo principally composed of flour and biscuit from Adelaide to Noumea, and, according to charterparty, the vessel on arrival at her destination was to be consigned to the charterers or their agents. Duly arrived at Noumea on the 28th of March last, I reported myself to the firm of Mr. William Morgan, which, I presumed, represented the Adelaide firm, my charterers; but by them I was informed that Messrs. Adet, Pelletier, and Co., of Noumea, represented the Adelaide firm, and that therefore my vessel had to be placed in their hands. To Messrs. Adet, Pelletier, and Co. then I addressed myself, and by them was duly entered at the Port and Custom-house offices. In accordance with the duty of a shipmaster in a foreign port, I then reported myself to H. B. M. Consul, with whom I lodged a protest in the usual form, to protect me against any claims for damage which the cargo might have sustained in consequence of the very severe weather which my vessel had encountered during her voyage. At my request surveyors were appointed by the Consul to open the vessel's hatches and follow the discharge, and in due course these surveyors delivered to me certificates certifying as to the perfect manner in which the hatches had been closed, and the complete and sufficient state of the dunnage and stowage, and stating, moreover, that any damage which the cargo had sustained was to be attributed wholly to the straining of the vessel in the heavy weather she had encountered. My vessel began her discharge on the 22nd March, and, on the 23rd or 24th, M. Pelletier, the acting member of the firm, my agents, and consignee of the greater portion of the cargo, came on board and saw that some of the cargo was in a damaged state, and I then told him that if he had any objections to the surveyors named by the Consul to have others appointed on his behalf. The discharge continued until the 3rd of April, at which date I had only about 200 sacks of flour left on board, without a word having been said to me either by my agent M. Pelletier, or any one else, to the effect that the proceedings I had taken through the Consul were illegal or informal, and that to have secured myself against claims for damaged cargo, I should have made my report or protest before the French authorities, or Judge of the Tribunal of Commerce, and have had the surveyors appointed by the same authority. On that day, the 3rd of April, I was served with two protests, one from Messrs. Adet, Pelletier, and Co., my agents, and the other from the firm of W. Morgan, to the effect that they refused to accept all damaged cargo, and held my vessel responsible for all loss thereon. Greatly surprised, as you can understand I was, at such a proceeding on the part of my agent, I applied for advice to a British merchant in Noumea, who is supposed to be pretty well up in all matters of shipping, and by his advice I took no immediate notice of the protest, but continued the discharge of the vessel, the consignees taking delivery as usual. Having completed my discharge on the 5th April, I applied to both consignees, Messrs. Adet Pelletier and Morgan, for payment of my freight, which was refused; and a claim was thereupon handed to me by my agents, Adet, Pelletier, and Co., for the value, at Noumea prices, of 290 bags of flour and 51 cases biscuits, amounting to £459 6s., said to be in a damaged state. Considering this claim wholly unjustified, I put the matter into a lawyer's hands to recover my freight, but my adversaries were before me, and on the 9th April I received a summons to appear on the same day before the tribunal of commerce for the purpose of being condemned to pay to them the difference between the amount due to me for freight and the amount of their claim, or the sum of £284 7s. The Judge of this tribunal, however, was far from seeing with the eyes of M. Pelletier, and not only rejected completely his claim against my vessel, but confirmed as being perfectly legal and regular the steps which I had taken through the Consul. Not satisfied with this judgment, M. Pelletier appealed to the higher court, before which the case was again argued on the 13th current, and this tribunal reversed completely the judgment given in my favour by the lower court, so that I have not only to pay the claim of M. Pelletier, but the whole of the law expenses besides. The grounds of this decision are the following, and it will be well for both shipowners and shipmasters to take careful note of same, and be heedful into whose hands they consign their ship's interests in Noumea. 1st. The Court held that the Consul had no capacity nor right to open the vessel's hatches, which he did alone, signing himself "Lloyd's agent." 2nd. That the certificates given to me by the surveyors named by the Consul were of no value, because these surveyors had not been sworn in by the Consul (one of the surveyors was the vice-consul himself), and that there was a doubt about the date of the principal certificate, the date, 22nd March, having been changed into the 27th, a mere slip of the pen, the latter being the real date upon which the certificate was granted,"

MELANESIA.

Baron Miklouho-Maclay, after a cruise of over nine months among the islands of Melanesia (New Hebrides, Admiralty, Solomon, Louisiate Islands, and others), arrived at Teste Island towards the end of January last, where he joined the mission steamer Ellengowan, and visited in her the south-east of New Guinea, proceeding at the end of March to Torres Straits, where he intends visiting several islands, and hopes to spend some time at Somerset, York Peninsula, in continuation of his anthropological and zoological researches, proceeding to Brisbane and Sydney towards the end of April. The result of Baron Miklouho-Maclay's researches and observations will shortly appear in the journal of the Imperial Russian Geographical Society.

SAMOA.

Intelligence from Samoa states that on the 13th of April Malietoa was proclaimed King of Samoa. On the following day Steinberger and party hoisted a flag and threatened to rebel, and unless the representatives of foreign Powers interfere affairs may result seriously.

Samoa (says the Fiji Times) is determined not to be behindhand with respect to the increase of her marketable commodities. There is on view at the office of Mr. William Hennings a first-class sample of coffee from Messrs. Godeffroy's plantation in that part of the world, which, if it be forthcoming in any quantity, will secure for that group an enviable position as a coffee-producing country. The beans are large, heavy, and of an excellent colour.

THE LINE ISLANDS.

We learn from the Fiji Argus of April 16 that the cutter Rose, which had been away cruising amongst the Line Islands for three months, has returned to Levuka. She reports that the copra trade at the islands is being greatly overdone, chiefly by American vessels, and that the prices asked for copra by the natives of the different groups of islands round the Line is within £2 a ton of the prices realized in Fiji, after all the trouble and expense of procuring it and fetching it to Levuka.

MONETARY REVIEW.

Late cablegrams from Europe, stating that the London wool sales had assumed a different aspect to what they had when last mail left here, have tended to relieve the minds of bank authorities, who then saw in the future a difficulty in finding remunerative employment for deposits. The advance reported at the opening of the sales in the face of enormously heavy arrivals was looked upon by many persons as phenomenal, and if, with such a quantity as over 400,000 bales to be offered, prices were sustained at February rates, it would have been satisfactory. As it is there will be more money to deal with than the banks could have anticipated when the year opened, and yet we are unable to report any reduction in the rate of discounts. Looked at from a banker's point of view it is quite correct to make as much for shareholders as possible while a combination exists, and thus we have had extremes within about a year. While it was a matter of free trade amongst them, the rates paid for interest were as absurdly high as the discount rates are now, but competition led to the former state of things, not scarcity of money any more than there is at present. Money is cheaper in Melbourne, but the banks there place the mercantile interest in the premier position, whereas here the complaint is that trade is made subservient to other things, which swell bank dividends to their present high figures. This will cure itself in time, but in the interval merchants' profits are not sufficient to pay for the capital invested, apart from the risks inseparable from their business, and with the competition which exists now a days, there appears to be little chance that these profits will increase. If even an increase of money from the wool clip had not been realized, the withdrawal of the special Government deposits from the banks would not have made money dearer, as it was intended to expend them on public works within the colony. It was only a question of days or weeks at most, before what went out in a lump sum filtered back through the channels of trade, hence the wish of some banks to get rid of their liability to pay the Government 4 per cent. for what they knew would return to them on trade accounts free of charge. The commercial community watch the aspects of the money market too closely not to feel they are justified in saying that discounts should be reduced at once. The large houses have had a severe strain upon them for many months, in helping country customers to meet engagements which would have been punctually met had not exceptionally bad seasons reduced the purchasing power of their constituents, or prevented the collection of debts due, except by recourse to extreme measures. If on landed security, money can be obtained from the Australian Mutual Provident Society or the Government Savings' Bank at 6 per cent., why have mercantile bills to pay so much more if turned into cash? The position of the banks has been strengthened during the past quarter. On December 31st, they held as deposits not bearing interest £5,000,473, and on the 31st March these had increased by a little over half a million; whereas interest-bearing deposits were £181,205 less than at the close of last year; the amount of coin held was more by £362,904, and the note circulation had only increased to the extent of £18,641. The last-issued returns present the following totals:—Notes in circulation, £1,167,992; deposits not bearing interest, £6,506,874; ditto bearing interest, £12,680,161: total liabilities, £19,547,969. Coin held, £3,101,382; bullion, £66,010; notes and bills discounted, and other debts due the banks, £16,560 15s. (a reduction of £550,739 on the quarter); total assets, £24,564,461. The prospects of money being more plentiful in the colonies have been greatly increased by the success of the Strathleven experiment. This has already augmented the value of pastoral properties to a large degree, and is likely to lead to the establishment of a joint stock company in each of the colonies for the purpose of fresh meat exportation. 1½d. to 2d. per lb. will pay squatters handsomely, and in view of realizing it, steps have been taken to form export companies here, at Melbourne, and in Brisbane. The merchants are prepared to give substantial aid to the movement, by taking shares as well as supplying freight for the outward voyages, so that ere long Australian meat will become an article of commerce in the home markets, and the profits arising therefrom form a portion of our national wealth. The inquiry for investments in Stocks and Shares has increased this month, and a larger business would have been transacted if the market had been better supplied. Some shares have not been offered for weeks past, although salable at a good advance. That holders are not disposed to realize is in some degree due to being impressed with the idea that money must become cheaper, and dividend-paying shares must rise proportionately.

BANKS.—An active demand has been experienced, and quotations are higher for all. City were not dealt in until the close of last week, when they more than recovered the fall reported in our last, closing at £11 7s., sales. Commercial, fully-paid, had a rise of 20s., half of which was subsequently lost; new issue advanced similarly, and retained it. Joint Stock are 2s. 6d. better, and the same improvement may be quoted on Mercantile; New South Wales went to 52 before the half-yearly meeting, when a dividend and bonus at the rate of 17½ per cent. per annum were declared, they were done recently at 50½ x d.; New Zealand all outstanding, sales at 20 c. d., 19½ x d.; Queensland National have risen to 7; and after the market was cleared of all the Union obtainable at 59, buyers offered 60 without acceptance.

DEBENTURES.—Very few offered. The only New South Wales Government securities brought forward were five per cents. which were taken at once at 108, with buyers still at that figure; offers of 94 for consolidated fours did not lead to business; Queensland fours brought 92; a parcel of New Zealand fives were offered for a time at par, but none lately; City of Sydney sixes had buyers at 101, sellers at 103.

Sydney Fire for sale at 60s. For Sydney Marine, 34s. ex. div. was paid, 36s. asked; no buyers during the last few days. United are fully 1s. 6d. dearer than before the dividend was paid; last sales at 37s. to 38s.

MINING.—Band and Albion gold have fluctuated a good deal, dropping from 7½ to 6½, then hardening gradually, and now for sale at 6¾; Star of Peace went to 3s. 6d. sales, sellers now at 3s.; no transactions in Krohmann's. The strike at Newcastle has not had so much effect on the value of coal as some anticipated, Wallsend and Waratah having both risen; 13 was the last price paid for the former, and 7¾ for the latter. Bulli declined to 11, sellers; Vale of Clwydd better, 15s. 3d. paid, 15s. 6d. wanted; Great Cobar Copper after again taking an upward turn, the latest sale at 51s are offered at 1s. less.

STEAM.—Australasian in active request, and from sales at 16, reported in our last quotations, went up steadily until business was reported at 16¾ to 17, with a firm market. North Shore Ferry having paid a dividend of 9d. (the first), gave a better tone to the shares, 14s. 6d. being realized. Illawarra paid 5s. per share dividend for the half-year, and are held for 5¾ x d. For Hunter River 7 has been asked.

The course of sales since the 22nd ultimo has been :—

MERCANTILE REVIEW.

THE EXPORT MARKETS.—So little wool has been left for shipment that the news of values having receded at the April-May sales has not affected prices here in any perceptible degree. The offerings at public sales held fortnightly have not averaged more than about 500 bales, chiefly scoured sorts, for which satisfactory rates were obtained. The demand for skins has been large, and prices firm at up to 7d. for good full-woolled. Tallow has had strong enquiry both for local use and export, and has risen to £28 for best mutton, £26 to £26 12s. 6d. for beef. At these prices a considerable quantity changed hands last Friday. The supply of hides being short of trade requirements, led to an advance of fully an eighth per lb., good lots of wet-salted selling at 3½d. to 4¼d., a few extras and light dry at up to 4½d. The receipts of pearlshell have not been large, but a good quantity is advised as en route from Torres Straits, prices remain firm. Copra has been a shade easier, the few lots to hand have been disposed of for shipment to London on private terms. Ships loading for England are daily finding it more difficult to fill up, owing to so much steam tonnage being available. The only clearances since last summary were the Sorata (s.), with 1959 bales 1 pocket wool, 49 bales cotton, 2 bales skins, 2201 ingots tin, 10,824 ingots 574 cakes copper, 5 tons boghead mineral, 16 barrels 16 quarter-casks plumbago, 1 barrel metal, 3505 cases meats, 63 bags cobalt ore, 1 case jewellery, 8 boxes silver coin, 1 box tobacco, 2 cases wine, 35 cases pearlshell, 5 case plants, 43 packages sundries: and the Damascus, with 695 bales wool, 2224 ingots tin, 2729 hides, 1122 casks tallow, 22 cases pearlshell, 2019 bags copra, 4 bales hair, 60 bales rags, 758 cases meat, 162 cases 11 quarter-casks wine, 1575 kegs nails, 71 packages condensed beer, 91 cases glue, 75 bundles glue pieces, a quantity of hoofs, horns, bones, and bonedust, 14 packages sundries. The Cuzco (s.) leaves, via Melbourne, to-day, and will be followed in a week by the Northumberland (s.), both taking part cargoes. The Abergeldie, Alexander Duthie, Damascus, Min-y-don, Sydenham, Elizabeth, and Aconcagua (s.) are also on the berth.

THE IMPORT MARKETS.—English mail advices to March 26 to hand this week did not tend to improve business. Increased shipments such as are advised were uncalled for, as, generally speaking, stocks are full, and the dull season just setting in. The advance in prices in the home markets has not been responded to here except to a limited extent, and there has been an absence of speculative inquiry. Money is too dear to afford any opportunities for speculation, such as was formerly common in this market, and the position of importers is almost reduced to that of second houses, all breaking bulk supplying trade lines, and some even employing travellers. Large houses have been compelled to protect their trade as against smaller rivals by affording the same facilities or lose their business, for in these days of cable-communication bringing us within a day of European sources of supply, and steamers at least once a week from London delivering goods in Sydney under fifty days, heavy stocks are uncalled for, and operate against capital rather than favour it. There has been a recovery in salt; slightly better rates for tea, cement, and slates. In other articles prices have either been barely maintained or have receded. That trade was slack at the end of the quarter was only to be expected, and against this the 4th of the month passed off better than usual of late. The receipts of foreign merchandise during the last fortnight have been below the average, and comprised only the cargoes ex Remington and British Princess, from London, consisting of general merchandise; Westfa and Chittagong, from Mauritius, with sugars; sundries per steamers Cuzco, Northumberland, and Aconcagua; and American goods ex Itonus.

BREADSTUFFS AND CEREALS.—The drooping tendency of the English wheat market having imparted an easier tone to those of Adelaide and Melbourne, has, as a consequence, weakened prices here. South Africa took a good quantity from Adelaide early in the season, but as latest advices are not favourable to further shipments there for the present, London seems the only market available outside the colonies. Agents for Adelaide houses are selling flour here at £11 to £11 15s. for bakers' lots, Victorian ranging from 5s. to 10s. less. There is no inquiry for wheat, and 4s. 8d. is a nominal quotation for best. Oats have a limited sale, at 1s. 9d. to 2s. 3d. for feed grain, 3s. to 3s. 4d. for seed. Pearl barley has been moving at 25s. for trade quantities. A large parcel has just arrived from New Zealand, and will render prices easier. Oatmeal brings from 16s. to 20s.; split peas, 20s. to 21s.; maize active at 2s. to 2s. 6d.

BUILDING MATERIALS.—After the large purchases mentioned in our last at about 15s. 6d. for K D and S on the spot, prices advanced to 19s. 3d. for small lots, and one sale to arrive is reported at 19s. 6d.; also Gibbs, to arrive, at 17s. Rough Oregon timber is still scarce, and salable, with a cargo now due. T. and G. boards are unchanged. Slates in short supply, and held for extreme rates.

CANDLES.—Holders have not made any change in quotations. 7½d. to 7¾d. paid for trade lots of best. 7½d. for inferior. The decline in the price of kerosene and its more general use have reduced their sale very much.

COFFEE, &c.—Plantation coffee constitutes the bulk of the stock held, and sells at 12½d.; for Java 11½d. is asked. Chicory from 6½d. accepted for duty paid on the spot, 6½d. refused to arrive. Taylor's cocoa quoted at 1s. 3½d.; Epps's, 1s. 5½d.

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.—Caustic soda is extremely scarce and proportionately high for the moment. Soda crystals steady at £7 10s. Flour sulphur went up rapidly to £20, and remains at that. Cream tartar easier; sales at 1s. 3d. to 1s. 4d. Tartaric acid is worth 1s. 10½d.; whiting, £3 to £3 10s. The leading brands of blasting powder were almost out of agents' hands until the Remington arrived, bringing a good-sized shipment of Pigous and Wilks's, partly sold for forward delivery. Two large lines of Hall's were purchased for here in Melbourne at a full figure. 6½d. to 6¾d. may now be given as the range for best D.P. 100 cases Pigous and Wilks's treble F cannister placed on private terms.

DUNDEE GOODS.—Sales of Calcutta-made cornsacks at 8s. 9d. to 8s 10½d., chiefly for New Zealand; 150 bales woolpacks sold in one line at 3s. 4d. for side, 3s. 5d. for ends.

FISH.—The principal holders of new 1-lb. salmon are firm at 8s., outside lots sold at less, say 7s. 6d. to 7s. 9d., the former for old; oysters dull at 5s. to 5s. 3d., and lobsters at 8s. 9d. to 9s.; dried ling steady at 5d; no white herrings on hand, red command 18s for 1 dozen, 31s. for 2 dozen tins. There has been a decline in sardines, halves were quitted at down to 6s. 9d., quarters brought 4s.

FRUITS.—Currants had fair inquiry at 5½d. to 5¾d. for prime, the higher figure now asked. Figs almost out of stock and salable at 1s.; muscatel raisins have also gone up, 1s. 2d. asked for best samples; sultanas are worth 7½d. to 8d.; eleme, 7d. to 7½d. There are no Jordan almonds in first hands. Dried apples sold readily at 7d.; dates are quoted at 4d.; Barcelona nuts at 4½d.

HOPS AND MALT.—Stocks of new Tasmanian hops have increased considerably; best held for 1s. 10d., inferior at 1s. 1d. upwards; new Kents were placed in small lines at up to 2s. 9d.; Sussex at 2s. 3d.; Californian are worth about 1s. 6d.; inferior English, 1s. 11d. Melbourne dealers in malt have been supplying our brewers at lower terms than importers here could accept without entailing a loss, 9s. to 9s. 3d. having been accepted.

LEATHER.—Public sales have been fairly attended, and prices steady. On Tuesday last the supply of dressed sorts was short, but did not affect prices, and the values obtained showed no improvement on last sales. Sole realized 7½d. to 10½d.; damaged, 6½d. to 7½d.; kip, 12d. to 16d.; damaged, 11½d.; calf, 17d. to 2s; tweed, 17d. to 1s. 11d.; yearling, 18d. to 1s. 10d.; kangaroo, 2s. to 3s.; harness, 10½d. to 13d.; bridle, 9s. to 11s., bag, 7s. 10d. to 12s. 6d.; basils, 5s. 6d. to 13s.

LIQUORS.—New bulk brandy having arrived, and holders anxious to effect sales, made prices weaker. Hennessy's and Martell's '78 may be quoted at 11s. to 11s. 3d.; Hennessy's case sold at 35s., Martell's at 34s. 6d., Grande Marque at 25s., and old Renault's bulk at 9s. 3d. Whisky has had a free sale at 17s. to 19s. for best case, 5s. to 10s. for ordinary to fine in wood. Foreign rum is lower, 3s. 6d. accepted for Lowndes', in hogsheads and quarters; Queensland is worth 2s. 2d. Large contents geneva in moderate request at up to 17s. Bulk ale firm, stocks not large, and shipments light; £5 5s. to £6 10s. paid for best. There was not so much doing in bottled, though prices were slightly more favourable to buyers. In bottled stout a good business was done, pig brand realizing 9s. 6d. to 10s.; Sparkes, Moulines, 9s. 6d. for quarts, 6s. 9d. for pints; Boar's Head and Crown also worth about 9s. 6d.

METALS.—A receding tone has prevailed in all lines except tinplates and yellow metal, both of which are firm. Galvanized iron is from 5s. to 10s. lower; a line of second quality sold last week at below £27 10s. Fencing wire was quitted at £17 10s. to £17 15s. for No. 10, £15 10s. to £15 15s. for No. 8. For sheet lead £22 has been accepted, though it cannot be laid down here at that money. Late news from England has affected the value of pig iron, and 90s. is now its nominal value.

OILMEN'S STORES, &c.—Starch is rather scarce, having been bought here to the extent of several hundred packages for Melbourne; £47 10s. is present value of Colman's, £45 10s. for inferior. Other lines rule about the same. Bottled fruits quoted at 12s. to 12s. 6d.; 1-lb. jams, 5s. 6d. to 7s. for colonial, 9s. for English; 1-lb. mustard, 9s. to 17s. 6d., ½-lb., 5s. 3d. to 8s. 9d.; good pint pickles, 8s. 6d. to 10s. 6d.; inferior, 7s. 6d. to 7s. 9d.; ½-pint salad oil, 5s. 4½d.; pints, 9s.; quarts, 17s.; bulk vinegar, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 9d.; bottled, 7s. to 7s. 3d.; blue, 8d. to 8½d.; English bacon, 10d.; hams, 1s.

OILS.—The Southern Cross and Comet brands of colonial are now selling at the reduced price of 1s. 3d., as against 1s. 8d. to 1s. 9d. asked for Devoe's; linseed had a better sale, 4s. 1d. to 4s. 2d. paid for half-and-half in drums; colza unchanged.

RICE.—Only five to ten-ton lots have been dealt in—parcels not asked for. Patna is quoted at £21, dressed Java up to £22 10s.; other dressed table, £18 10s.

SALT.—Several large purchases were made to land and forward delivery. 100 tons, ex Doune Castle, went for 95s., a similar-sized parcel near at hand for £5 7s. 6d., and £5 paid for 100 tons, forty days out. Trade sales lately of coarse Liverpool were made at up to £6, and for a few tons £6 5s. was obtained. Rock scarce, and worth now £6 10s. Fine salt cannot be placed at more than £5.

SUGAR.—Values have been somewhat shaken by late late sales. The greater portion of the cargo of Mauritius sorts, ex Smiling Morn, sold under the hammer, on Wednesday, at prices entailing a loss of £4 to £5 per ton. White brewing crystals sold at £37 to £38; snowdrop crystals at £37 to £37 12s. 6d.; fine white counters at £36 12s. 6d. to £37; also a line of colonial yellow at £31. The cargoes ex Westfa and Chittagong, are going into store, and one more cargo is advised as coming forward. Late Mauritius news to the effect that stocks are almost exhausted, crop prospects not so good, and new sugar likely to be late is in favour of importers. The Sugar Company's quotations remain unchanged.

TEAS.—Fresh purchases made for Melbourne have reduced the stock in bond to a lower point than it has been at for years at this date. Ration teas are selling at up to £5; low to good medium, £6 to £7 10s.; fine, 1s. 10d. to 2s. 3d., the latter getting rather scarce.

SHIPS' REPORTS.

The British Princess, from London, came through the Downs on the 5th January, and the last land was seen at Beachy Head on the afternoon of the same date. Light southerly winds prevailed to the 21st, in latitude 4° N., longitude 22 W.; N. and E. winds followed for a week, then S.E. and S. winds to 13 N., where the only days N.E. trades prevailed; and the passage to the line from thence was marked by light S. and S.W. winds. Crossed the equator on the 15th February, in longitude 26°, where the S.E. trades were taken, and lasted till the 21st, when the wind veered to north, and was light and moderate till the 7th March, the ship being at the time in latitude 39·25 S. and longitude 11·12 E. Passed the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on the 9th March, and from thence to St. Paul's, passed on the 26th, moderate W. and S.W. winds, followed by baffling winds from N.E. and N. up to the 22nd April, when the vessel was kept away to go southward of Tasmania. The easting was run down in 39 S., but off Tasmania, on the 16th April, the latitude of 46 29 S. was attained. The South Cape of Tasmania was rounded on the 21st, and on the 23rd and 24th the strong S.W. gales were experienced, and heavy northerly winds on the Australian coast.

The overdue ship Remington, from London, dispelled the uneasiness regarding her safety, by entering an appearance in our harbour on May 1st. Her lengthy voyage is accounted for by the prevalence of a most unusual series of contrary winds. In other respects the voyage has been uneventful. Since the ship was here last year she has voyaged to India, via Newcastle, Madras, Havre, thence home. While in England her rig was changed from a barque to a ship, and Captain Carr believes the change is an improvement. The ship brings a general cargo, including some 60 or 70 tons of gunpowder, which will be, in all probability, discharged to-day, and the vessel will then come up from her present anchorage below Garden Island, and put out her cargo. Captain Carr reports having left The Downs on the 2nd January, and the Lizard on the 6th, with S. and S.W. winds, which continued with fine weather to the 22nd. The N.E. trades were taken in latitude 34 N., and were light and unsteady; crossed the equator on the 9th February, in 26 W.; the S.E. trades were very poor; crossed the meridian of Greenwich on March 4, in latitude 38 40 S., and four days afterwards passed the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope; the easting was run down on the 42nd parallel, with fine weather, but constant baffling winds, and a high glass. When in the longitude of the Leeuwin N.E. winds compelled the ship to go southward of Tasmania; passed the South Cape on April 19; from thence to port experienced S. and S.W. weather, with very mountainous S.W. seas. No vessels connected with the colonies have been spoken.

The Westfa, from Mauritius, is a heavily laden little vessel, and he has been tempest tossed to an unusual extent, and in fact been placed by the elements in a most critical position. The voyage was commenced on the 15th March with a strong S.E. wind, and it varied between that point and E.N.E. up to the 28th, in latitude 37 S. longitude 78 E. two days moderate N.E. and N.W. winds. On March 31, in sight of St. Paul's, a fresh gale started at N.W., suddenly chopping into south with rain, variables followed till April 4, when a fresh gale with thick rain commenced, and a high sea which broke over the decks. The gale changed to N., N.W., and W., with a most troublesome sea up to the 7th, when it decreased, but the heavy swell kept on, and found free access to the schooner's deck. On the 10th, a gale prevailed from N.W., and blew with scarcely any abatement, between that and S.W., up to the 20th, the decks being constantly wet. Bass's Straits were entered on the 23rd, with rough S.W. weather. The 24th commenced with terrific squalls from E. and S.E.; a heavy sea was shipped on the port side, which swept away a portion of the bulwarks on both sides, and did other damage, the decks were filled fore and aft, and tons of water went down the cabin and forecastle. The gale took off slightly on the 25th, at S.W., when Cape Otway was sighted. The bad weather continued up to Cape Howe, passed on April 29, and the schooner kept rolling rails under. Captain Williams expects only slight damage to the cargo, as the vessel has made no water.

WRECK OF THE BARQUE SARAH DREYFUS.

The coast of New Caledonia continues to maintain its notoriety for shipwrecks. Only last mail we received the particulars of the loss of the Sea Shell, and by the arrival of the City of Melbourne, on the 6th instant, we have tidings of the loss of the barque Sarah Dreyfus in the same locality and under somewhat similar circumstances. The Sarah Dreyfus was a vessel of 329 tons register, was built at St. Malo, France, in 1866, was purchased by Captain John G. Punch, of this city, in 1878, and owned by him up to the time of her loss. The vessel last voyaged from Newcastle to Noumea, discharged the bulk of her cargo, and sailed for Pam, on the New Caledonian coast. On the 27th April, during S.E. weather, the vessel ran upon Cook's Reef. The master and crew took to the boats, and arrived safely at Pam. The barque speedily became a total wreck, nothing whatever of value being saved. She was chartered to load copper ore back to Newcastle. The cargo was insured for £500 in the New Zealand office, £500 in the National office of New Zealand, and £480 in the Swiss Lloyd's.

WRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE AT SYDNEY HEADS.

The Lady Emma, a vessel of 125 tons, captained by Austin Flynn, left Sydney on Friday afternoon in tow of the Amy tugboat, which parted with her off Miller's Point. The schooner set sail with a fair wind about 5.30 p.m., and was off the North Head about 7.15 p.m., when the wind fell to a calm, and a heavy sea was breaking on the shore. The vessel kept drifting towards the North Head; and, as her destruction appeared inevitable, blue lights were burned to attract the attention of the pilot steamer to the danger. The vessel took the rocks just inside the North Head at a quarter to 8 o'clock. In the meantime the schooner's boat had been got ready for lowering. When she struck, the boat was lowered, and Mr. A. Anderson, the mate, and three of the crew jumped into the boat, and two others, named respectively Caristensen and Turner, jumped overboard, and were picked up by the boat, they being only a few minutes in the water. Captain Flynn ordered the crew to save their own lives, and not to mind him. The pilot-steamer was seen approaching the wreck, the captain at this time being on the poop. A man from the pilot's boat jumped overboard with a line attached to him, in the hope of saving Captain Flynn, who was called upon to jump into the sea, the man with the line being ready to rescue him. He declined doing so, saying that he could not swim. In a few minutes more the vessel bumped heavily for the third time and broke up; but nothing could be seen of Captain Flynn. The heroic boatman, who during this time had remained in the water and behaved with remarkable coolness, saved a dog that jumped overboard as the vessel went down. Captain Flynn leaves a wife in this city. The Lady Emma was built at Yarmouth in 1874, and was owned by Mr. C. G. Warburton, of Pyrmont. She was engaged in the Newcastle coal trade, and had the reputation of being a good collier. The hull was insured for £800, £250 being in the Batavia office, and £550 in the Union Company's office of New Zealand.

The Chandernagor, which sailed from Flissingen for New Ireland on the 14th September last, with a party of 82 emigrants, equipped and well provided for by the Marquis de Rays and his friends, who are desirous of forming a new settlement in the South Seas, arrived here on the 6th March, in distress, having lost all her four anchors. Since the vessel's arrival in Port Jackson she has been the cause of much trouble and dispute, firstly owing to her not having any papers showing the port of her registration, nor any proper clearance paper. However, after much contention, the matter was at last settled satisfactorily, and the vessel began to load shale and copper for Liverpool. Another bother has lately arisen between the captain and his crew. The men assert that they are unable to obtain any funds from their captain, and that they wish to be paid off at this port, whilst, on the other hand, the captain says that he has not only given them much more money than he was entitled to, but has also spent close upon £100 in clothing them, that he has likewise fed them in a much better way than is usual to provision sailors, and that they signed before the American Vice-Consul at Antwerp last September for two years. The men, who placed their cause in the hands of Mr. Coonan, M.L.A., applied to the Police Magistrate for assistance, and a consultation was held last week between the Consuls, Mr. Coonan, and the captain, and at this interview the latter, after much deliberation, offered to pay the men off here if they were willing to accept one-third of what was due to them. This, though not without much demur, the men agreed to accept, and payment was promised for the same afternoon, but up to the present they have not been successful in obtaining it, and they now intend claiming the full amount. The vessel is loaded and ready for sailing, but has no crew, and has we understand, been seized by the Vice-Admiralty Court for debt.
